Terms: $2.00 Per Annum in Advance.

We are informed that Cyrus T. Alexander is an independent candidate for Congress in the twentieth congressional district in opposition to the regular Democratic nominee L. A. Mackey. Mr. Alexander proposes to enter upon the canvass at once, and will visit the several counties of the district.

OUR TICKET.

The ticket nominated by the Republicans of Centre county a week ago last Tuesday is one of the best ever presented to the people of this county for their support. We have yet to learn that there is a single man dissatisfied with it. Many of our political opponents with whom we have had conversation upon the subject acknowledge it to be an exceptionally strong ticket, and have expressed a determination to give certain persons upon it their cordial support. We have but one candidate for the Legislature. This movement on our part has astonished our Democratic opponents who are entirely at sea as to the motive, which we hope will be fully explained to them at the polls. We hope every Republican in the county will do his duty at the coming election. There never was so favorable an opportunity to achieve success; but we can gain nothing by inactivity, there must be work done, faithful, earnest work. Don't wait for the county committee to move, but let every individual Republican feel that he has a duty to perform in assisting to achieve a victory for the great and glorious principles of republican liberty. Our opponants have put in the field, either men of straw or pronounced aristocrats. On all hands there are serious complaints; the people are dissatisfied with the ring rule which has governed them for the past few years. They are ready to see this ring broken up and other men elected who will not be controlled. For years the county has been robbed by unscrupulous men, how much the people will never know, until there is a change. There is a chance now to bring about a change and nothing will, or can prevent it, but the apathy of the Republicans. Then, we say again to every Republican, be up and doing: not only work yourselves, but see that your neighbors work in the good cause, and a glorious victory will be the result. We do not want our friends to say this is paper talk; we mean every word we say. The times are ripe for a change, and it remains for you to say if it shall be done.

AMONG the candidates in the State who have been nominated by the Republicans for Legislature, we are glad to see the name of Jesse J. John, of Shamokin, who has been nominated by our party of Northumberland county. Mr. John is a representative man and a very pleasant and courteous gentleman. It would be a source of comfort, if every candidate of all parties could be recognized as being so good a man. If the good people of Northumberland county do their duty he will be elected by a rousing majority.

——The Harrisburg Telegraph, in noticing the requirement of the law as to the annual publication of a statement of the financial transactions and conditions of each School Board in the State, announces that the department will withhold the State appropriation from all districts that fail to make the usual public statement.

NOTICE.—Having purchased the entire stock, lease, good will and fixtures of the Bellefonte Press Co., I will hereafter conduct said business and settle all accounts. The business will be conducted as heretofore in the name of the Bellefonte Press Co.

"THE DOMINANT RACE."

It is about time that Southern Democrats stop talking about their being "the legitimate representatives of the dominant race on this earth." If they are, the world will discover it soon enough without calling upon them to blow their own trumpets. We have an exalted idea of it in particular, but we see on every hand so many lazy, good for nothing, bigoted, and rascally pale faces that we find our faith sadly shaken in the color of skin as an index of superior merit or well developed manhood. There was a time in the earlier history of the nation when the plausible doctrine preached by Southern Democracy that the Caucassian branch of the human race was created by a kind Providence to ride on the shoulders of the rest of mankind, and with whip and spur force them to do their bidding, but that time has departed, and the world has at last opened its sleepy eyes to the fact that all men have equal rights in the race of life, and that no one branch has a right to saddle the other on the grounds of a legal and divine right to do so. Merit, in this age of progress, must be the standard of superiority, and if Southern Democrats ignore that standard they will find to their sorrow, that the color of their skin can not keep them in the vanguard of civilization.

A Mr. Marr, president of a Southern conservative convention which met at Baton Rouge a short time ago, made use of the following language.

"You know that before the emancipation of the colored race we occupied toward them a patriarchal relation. The negro should still receive the protecting care of those who were formerly his masters. I tell you my countrymen, the truest and best friends the negro ever had, or ever will have, were once their masters and owners. The duty that we have to perform with regard to him is, as I say, one for which we are responsible to God and our country. I wish to impress this seriously upon you before you leave here; it has oppressed me; it has weighed upon me with a heavy sense of responsibility; it is to civilize and Christianize this negro race. Left to himself he will become savage, an idolator. Wherever he has been allowed to exercise his natural tendencies and desires unrestrained he has become savage, and an idolator. God in his providence has intrusted his elevation to you. Do not doubt it; do not shrink from it; do not attempt to shirk the responsibility. God in his providence has intrusted to you the elevation, the education, and the training of this race."

We suggest in all kindness to this "representative of the dominant race" and specimen of enlightened Democracy that it is about time that he and his friends allowed the negro to work out his own social and political salvation. If their former masters and owners are, indeed "their truest, and best friends," as Mr. Marr asserts, the colored people will not be long in finding it out. But we insist that the negro race has a right to look elsewhere for the means wherewith to elevate and Christianize itself. A century's experience with "the dominant race" has somewhat shaken its confidence in the friendship expressed by its former owners and masters, and the benevolent work of the White Leagues and the charitable visits of the Kuklux are not over calculated to restore confidence in these self-proclaimed "truest and best friends the negro ever had." If Southern Democracy earnestly seek to elevate and Christianize the negro race it must stop the discipline which held it in bondage. It must call off its bloodhounds and send out teachers competant to instruct. Instead of driving negroes away with the rifle and the knife it should attract them by the Bible and the school book. Instead of burning colored churches and school-houses it should build others and stock them with the agencies of peace and civilization. Instead of persecuting and ostracizing Northern teachers who would gladly instruct the colored people in the best methods of education and industry it should welcome them to its cities and towns and bid them God speed in their efforts to elevate and Christianize a race whose labor the South must depend upon for a large share of its future prosperity. Let Democracy pursue this plan and write over its courts of justice "equal punisbment to the white and black offender," and the nation will rejoice over Democratic majorities because they will mean protection to the humblest citizens and the blessings of liberty to all. This, and this only, is the path which leads to Southern peace and prosperity. Will Democracy follow it, and thus secure its own redemption in the elevation of a race that it now oppresses? or will it in the future, as in the past, cling to its blind prejudices until it encompasses its own destruction? This path of peace which we have indicated the Republican party is following to-day. Democracy can forestall its action and earn the reward, or it can continue to hinder its progress by placing obstacles in the way. But the result, sooner or later, must be the same. If the representatives of "the dominant race" would reap the glory they must hasten to do the work.

COFFEE POT WALLACE.

The Osceola Reveille in an article entitled "The People's Choice" recommends the Hon. Wm. A. Wallace to the support of the people of this senatorial district for the reasons, it says,

> Not because he is a democrat; not that he by any means desires the position; but from the simple fact, that he is a man of the people and for the people; strictly honest, possessing unusual capabilities, influential, energetic, untiring in perseverance, and in all respects fully competent and abundantly qualified to ably and faithfully represent his constituents and guard the rights and interest of the Commonwealth.

As we intimated last week, this is the way the common people and middle classes (who, by the way, have the power to elect whom they will) are to be deceived and induced to vote for one of the most positive aristocrats and monopolists to be found in the entire district. It is the same old story, "a man of the people and for the people," strictly honest, possessing wonderful ability, abundantly qualified to ably and faithfully represent the people, etc. What a wonderful man! One would think that there was no one in the district qualified to be a senator but this monopolist. Well he might exclaim, "I am Sir Oracle, and when I ope' my mouth let no dog bark." "A man of the people and for the people" indeed. Well, if this can be appled to W. A. Wallace it can be said of any man in the State. "Strictly honest!" How honest a man can be who was engaged in the nefarious scheme that gave him the appropriate cognomination of Coffee Pot Wallace we leave the people to judge.

This wonderful revelation from the Reveille also gives us to understand that he does not by any means desire the position. Poor fellow! Now we submit that it is too bad for the people to force this pampered monopolist into a position that he does not want. For twelve years he has been your slave, i. e. senator, and it is asserted by some that he has kept himself awake nights devising ways and means to save the people's money. Poor people, farmers, mechanics, laboring men have pity! None know better than you, and from the bitter experience that flesh and blood cannot endure everything, that there is a limit to human endurance. Be merciful we beseech of you. Don't you know that other weighty matters rest upon his shoulders, that he has a large fortune to look after, is the vice president of a railroad, has a large and lucrative practice which will suffer, is engaged in the business of cutting off coupons, arduous labors which will in time wear a man out, labor which holds such enmity to the blood of man that if you do not "give him a rest" he may die? Do not let this man die in the harness. Send one of your own number while this man Wallace yet lives to give advice and counsel, else at no distant day, when in the fullness of time God shall call the wise man to that borne from which no traveler returns, we may be left without a man "in all respects fully competent and abundantly qualified to ably and faithfully represent his constituents and guard the rights and interests of the Commonwealth."

OUR ASSOCIATED PRESS LETTER.

PHILADELPHIA, October 13, 1874.

THE CENTENNIAL.

The ladies of our city are doing valuable and effective service in the matter of raising funds in aid of the Centennial Exhibition. They purpose giving a series of six lectures during November, and have engaged James T. Fields, Esq., the eminent author of Boston, as the lecturer. On the 22d and 23d of February next, they purpose holding an International festival and a committee is now making selection of the national costumes to be worn.

THE FRANKLIN INSTITUTE.

The exhibition of skilled workmanship by the Franklin Institute was formally opened by Governor John F. Hartranft. After the conclusion of the Governor's opening address, the Vice President, Mr. Moore arose and said: Fellow citizens: Allow me to present to you Mr. Hector Orr, one of the oldest printers of the United States, who is a true representative of American labor of the day.

Mr. Orr who had just been working at an old Ephrata hand press, on exhibition, inking the forms by hand with the old fashioned ink "balls," laid down his work and said:

Mr. President, my friends and countrymen—I take this opportunity to say that I have literally "stopped the press" to announce that the Franklin Institute has resumed the exhibition of American manufactures. This is not exactly the latest news, but it is good. [Applause.]

It is not an old practice: we tried it fifty years ago. We have tried both, "its breach and its observance," and I think we shall to-day announce to the "Third party"—our own million of inhabitants—that we have decided that it shall never be intermitted again. [Applause.]

I have said we have stopped the press. That little affair yonder, which looks like a miniature gallows, is not very imposing, yet when I entered the business two-thirds of the printing of Christendom was done upon such a machine: and to day, not far off, there is a Philadelphia invention that commends itself alike to mechanics and statesmen.

You will understand the difference when I say that my friend Charles S. Close and I could upon that old press obtain only 250 impressions in an hour while yonder is a machine that will do 25,000 impressions in an hour, four times the size. [Applause.] As one unit to 400, so is the progress of my great trade in the last fifty years.

This is the mechanical progress of our press. We have had various improvements in that time. But it was upon such a common machine as that that Junius and Wilkes shook the throne of George III, and upon this side of the Atlantic toppled it over. Throughout our country lately there have been many instances such as this, various gatherings, festivities and thankgivings.

I would like to draw your attention to the contrast between our exhibition and those. Upon this broad area, beneath this spreading roof, there is not a cannon, nor a sword, a bombshell, nor a percussion cap. Here is no horse racing, no game chickens, no bull terriers. All that is here is human activity, the results that direct to a good end. This is true progress. It is all to furnish comforts and necessities for our American homes. This is at once a cause and the effect of sturdy independence.

I have given the remarks of Mr. Orr in full because nothing could more forcibly portray the rapid advance in American skill. By it every man in the community can obtain a newspaper at a lower price accordingly than any other thing produced in this country, and the few—if there are any—who will not take a newspaper under these circumstances ought to be labelled "Modoc Indian," and banished to the land of the Modocs. The slow and winding gait of the ox as compared with the lightning speed of the easy motioned railroad engine, whirling along 50 miles an hour, presents a no more striking contrast than the old Ephrata, doing its level best to get off 2500 copies in 15 hours, with the printing press of to day rolling off 25,000 impressions an hour.

The display of machine tools in this exhibition is immense. Those competent to judge say—there has never been so many or such fine examples of the machines for making machinery brought together at one time, in this country. Heading the line in the main avenue is a group deposited by the house of Wm. Sellers & Co., who have the reputation of being the leading machine tools makers in the world. It was this house, that as Americans, we are indebted to for redeeming our credit in the exhibition of machinery at Vienna—when the judges awarded them the highest honor in their power to confer—"the great Diploma of honor," this, in competition with the world, they alone of all machine builders receiving this honor. In Paris too, at the last Grand Exposition of 1867, they were awarded the gold metal. The space occupied by their exhibit in the present instance is quite large and comprises examples of some of their most interesting machines. All these are exhibited in motion and are remarkable for their smoothness of motion, as well as for their exquisite finish. A machine for planing metals driven by a spiral pinion on a shaft lying diagonally across the bed has been pointed out as a great novelty. I am told that this tool has already been largely introduced into European workshops.

They show a very fine lathe arranged for screw cutting, as well as turning, and adapted with longitudinal and cross feed both operated by power—the power feed being obtained from a curious arrangement of friction discs, well worth a close examination. In one corner near to the lathe are examples of their bolt threading machines; they cut the bolt with closed dies at a single operation and the dies open to release the finished bolt—this is effected automatically without stopping the dies—but the curious and interesting part of this machine is the manner in which the oil is fed to the dies, being forced up from a reservoir by a pump, it enters the die hold, back of the dies, and flowing out through these washes out the chips as cut from the bolt and floods the cutting dies to lubricate them and keep them cool. There is a little surface grinding machine with an emory wheel in the centre of a plane surface and I have been shown steel straight edges which have been ground up in this little tool so accurately as to be able, when pressed tightly, edge to edge, to cohere—one straight edge supporting the weight of another below by the cohesion only. A drill grinding machine for sharpening twist and straight drills so the cutting lips are of equal lengths; they also show slotting machines; shaping machines, curious and perfect enough in their way but one s naturally attracted to the wonderful machine for cutting gear wheels in the South-east corner of the enclosure. This machine takes a blank wheel and cuts and spaces all the teeth, performing all the required motions of feeding the revolving cutter across the face of the wheel, then driving it back, turning the wheel round to a new place and then starting the feed anew—thus enabling the machine to dispense with an attendant during the time it is in operation. I have been informed the tool is one of the best illustrations of what can be accomplished by machine tools, as it is said to do 50 per cent. more work in a given time than if fed by hand, thus enabling one man to attend or run several machines. A curious machine stands near this tool which dresses up all six sides of hexagonal nuts at one operation—giving them a very fine finish. The nuts are strung on a mandrill and pass through a cluster of revolving cutters, they show also, a novel arrangement of drill pipes, both stationary and radical in which the spindles of both are driven directly by belt, without the intervention of gears. In the centre or the space stands a table covered with a great collection of Injectors for feeding steam boilers with water. This firm was the first to make this instrument in this country, and have introduced many improvements on the French invention; a large stand shows examples of hangers, pulleys and all the parts that go to make up what is known as shafting. The line shaft extending the entire length of the building for the exhibition work, is made by them, and drives all the iron working machinery in the hall. Apart from the group of tools just described in the area, where the boiler is placed, is a very fine example of Steam Hammer—the hammer bar is of solid wrought iron and weighs 300 pounds. It is designed for quick running and will strike automatically 350 blows per minute; to this hammer is attached a device that enables the blow to be made very light without materially diminishing the number of blows; this feature is said to be of great use in finishing steel; access to the area where the hammer is to be seen is obtained either by stairway or by a steam elevator—the hoisting machine which operates the platform of this elevator was made by this firm while the platform is furnished with a new and very curious safety arrangement, the invention of a gentleman in this city.

I have taken pains to describe this display, as fully as the circumscribed limits of a letter will permit, in such a manner as to make it beneficial to the practical machinist who reads this letter, and I trust not devoid of interest to the general reader. The firm which presents this display taught proud England at the Vienna Exhibition, that America, in the manufacture of machine industry outranks that haughty nation; that since the Vienna Exposition, machines bearing the impress of American genius and labor, is being shipped by every outgoing steamer to France, Germany, Russia and Austria.

The action of the U. S. Court will probably put Jay Cooke & Co., upon their feet (financially) once more.

Action upon the report of the investigating committee of the Pennsylvania railroad company has been postponed until the annual meeting in March next.

Our citizens were never before favored with so quiet a political canvass.

J. W. F.

——Our exchanges are quoting fall poetry, but none of them have found anything "better suited to the occasion" than the following:

Along the wayside and up the hills
The golden rod flames in the sun:
The blue-eyed gentian nods good-by
To the sad little brooks that run:
And so summer's done, said I,
Summer's done!

The barberry hangs her jewels out,
And guards them with a thorn!
The merry farmer boys cut down
The poor, old dried up corn:
And so summer's gone, said I,
Summer's gone!

The swallows and the bobolinks
Are gone this many a day,
But in the morning still you hear
The scolding swaggering jay!
And so summer's away, said I,
Summer's away!

A wonderful glory fills the air,
And big and bright is the sun:
A loving hand for the whole brown earth
A garment of beauty has spun!
But for all that, summer's done, said I,
Summer's done.

MR. WALLACE is the leading jurist of our county, and we are not going too far when we assert that he is now the most popular counselor and attorney of the Clearfield county bar; therefore in agreeing to accept the senatorship, if elected, he virtually sacrifices a lucrative practice in his profession, for a comparatively nominal salary, and we, instead of advocating measures of pecuniary interest to him, are working to promote the best interests of the people. If they cannot see it in this light, then we shall have nothing more to say on the important subject. —Osceola Reveille.

If the Reveille cannot give advice bearing more the impress of truth, reason, and common sense the sooner it stops talking politics the better. To use a common slang phrase the above quotation is entirely too thin to spread over much surface without showing through badly.

Coffee Pot Wallace has been a State Senator for twelve years, and if his practice will stand that without being all knocked to flinters it would probably bear the same treatment for three years more, provided, the people were disposed to trouble him with their business any longer. That the salary is of secondary importance to him we are willing to admit. To a man worth nearly a million of money the small matter of a salary of fifteen hundred dollars a year would as a matter of course be no great consideration. There are other things in which he takes a deeper interest. He is closely identified with railroads, banks and other monopolies, and they will want some legislation which, if secured, will bring much more money to his till than a half dozen yearly salaries would amount to. It is needless for us to say, perhaps, that such legislation will not be likely to be in the interest of the farming and producing classes.

THE Centre Hall Reporter says that Coffee Pot Wallace is vice president of a granger railroad. We warn the grangers and all others opposed to monopolies that every device of this kind will be employed to deceive the people. This is no more true than another from the same source which asserts that L. A. Mackey is president of a bank that never exacts but six per cent interest. If a man is doing a large business at Mackey's bank, is keeping a large deposit there all the time, he may be favored by their discounting his paper at six per cent, but if not they will not discount his paper at all, but refer him to Moore, Simpson & Co., a private banking institution in which Mackey is the largest share holder, and there he will have to pay from twelve to twenty per cent. This is the way Mackey helps the poor. Those who are not wealthy enough to keep a large deposit in one bank he forces to go to the other and pay ruinous rates of interest. Cannot the people see how this works? It makes the rich richer and the poor poorer. If a poor man goes to the Lock Haven National Bank he is sent to Moore, Simpson & Co., and by this subterfuge Mackey receives the blood money. If the people send him to Congress they may expect that he will deal with them in the same underhanded way, and assist the monopolists, of which he himself is chief, to bind the chains closer around the people that shall grind them down into the very dust.

——The proposed Keating and Karthaus Railroad seems to assume a tangible shape. A meeting will be held in Lock Haven on the 18th inst. to organize the company. The Osceola Reveille in speaking of the new road says:

Mr. Mackey is the prime mover in this matter, and, no doubt, will be elected President of the company. The people of Clearfield and Centre counties are deeply interested in this matter, and the proposed road cannot be coustructed too soon to meet their wants. When the road is completed to Karthaus, it must be continued to Philipsburg, and will not at all depend on "a matter of time," but simply on a matter of money. The time is here now, and the necessary capital is all that is wanting to make the road.

Mr. Mackey is president of the Bald Eagle Valley road, which charges the most exhorbitant rates for freight of any other road in the state. If he secures a similar position on this new road we fear it will very much impair its usefulness.

——The "Opera" cigar sold by James Welch is now all the rage, nothing like it, and for five cents.

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN

LOUISIANA.

Speech of Senator Morton in Indianapolis—History of the Troubles in Pelican State—Terrible Massacres by Kuklux and White Leaguers.

From the speech of Senator Morton, delivered in Indianapolis, Ind., on Friday evening, Sep. 18, we quote the following in relation to the difficulties in Louisiana:

I now come to the condition of Louisiana. I shall speak of that more particularly than any other State, first, because it just now attracts the public attention, and next, because I have had more or less connection in Congress with what is known of the Louisiana question. On last Monday there was an uprising of the White League all over the State of Louisiana. In one day they took possession of all the offices, turned out the Governor in the city or New Orleans, and captured the whole machinery of the State government. Some months past the Democratic newspapers of the North have been engaged in denying the existence of these White Leagues. They said they were the invention of carpet-baggers and scalawag Republicans. But they can not deny it any longer. The White League exists not only in Louisiana, but in other Southern States; I presume in all of them to-night, and, for aught I know, in Indiana. It is but another name for the Kuklux organization, and is in the nature of the Sons of Liberty, that once existed in Indiana. They rose in insurrection in New Orleans. We are told that thirty men were killed and fifty or sixty wounded. Some three weeks before that, in Red River parish, in the northern part of the State—a strong Republican parish—they notified the Republican officers to resign. Armed men went to them with this threatening notice. They refused to resign. The Leaguers then told these Republican officers, the Sheriff and others, that if they did not resign they would be killed. They believed it, and then agreed to resign, provided their lives were protected. Their enemies made that contract with them, and they resigned. For safe keeping they were put into Coushatta, the little county town of Red River parish. Parish, you will remember, is the name there for what we here call county. They were then led out, against their wishes, to be conducted, to Shreveport, and while on their way they were murdered—six of them—in cold blood, together with five negroes who were in company with them. It was a deliberate and atrocious murder of men against whom there was no charge of offence. The first story telegraphed here was that they were killed by a band of Texans; but that was nearly a hundred miles from Texas. The people of Texas did not care anything about it; they were engaged in a killing in their own State.

THE KELLOGG GOVERNMENT.

Time passed on down to last Monday, then this killing took place in New Orleans. The government of Kellogg was overthrown. I want to say a few words about the government. It has been in operation nearly two years. It has been recognized in five different occasions by the President of the United States as the lawful government of Louisiana. It was recognized by the House of Representatives at Washington by the admission of a member of that body who held the certificate of Governor Kellogg to his election. It has been recognized by the Senate of the United States on two occasions by the refusal of the Senate to pass a bill providing for a new election. That government was as completely recognized as the lawful government of Louisiana as is the government of the State of Indiana to-day. The courts of Louisiana had recognized it. The Supreme Court of that State is a very respectable and learned tribunal. The judges were elected in 1868. The chief justice, Ludling, is a native of Louisiana, was a confederate during the war, is a man of learning and ability, but like Colonel Hays, he accepted the situation when the war was over and became a Republican. The court is above suspicion. One member resigned two years ago, and the vacancy was filled, but three of the four judges were elected in 1868, and had no connection with the quarrel. They were as independent of it as we are here. Yet that Supreme Court has in divers cases recognized Governor Kellogg as the lawful Governor, and the Kellogg Legislature as the lawful Legislature of Louisiana. So, too, of the subordinate court. Last winter, and the winter before that, the Legislature passed more than two hundred laws, now in operation, and enforced by all the courts. Every parish officer, every justice of the peace, in Louisiana had his commission from Governor Kellogg, and recognized him as the lawful government of the State. Yet under the pretext that he was not elected this revolution took place, and this bloodshed, not only at Coushatta and New Orleans, but in many other places during the last two years.

THE STATE A VAST SLAUGHTER-HOUSE.

To understand the condition of Louisiana you must go back eight years. Louisiana has been a vast slaughter-house Murder has been committed on nearly every plantation. The streets, the byways, and the woods have been slippery with blood. These things pass rapidly out of the public mind. The Democrats have had control of the Associated Press and the telegraph. They have filled the ears of the people with stories of corruption and fraud, while they carefully conceal pools of blood that are to be found in every part of the State. I propose very briefly to revive your recollection of the history of Louisiana for the last eight years, and you will better understand what has just taken place. You will remember that in August, 1866, a massacre took place in New Orleans. The Republicans were holding a convention in the Merchanics' Institute, which is in the very heart of New Orleaans. They were holding a convention to propose amendments to the State constitution, to be submitted to a vote of the people of the State for ratification. The then State government of Louisiana, that had been organized by Andrew Johnson through some of the subordinate officers, gave that convention notice that is must not assemble. It was for an innocent purpose; it was lawful. They had as much right to meet as you have to come here to-night, and they did meet at the hour of noon in New Orleans. They were at once surrounded by a vast crowd, composed largely of the police of the city—a ferocious armed mob. They were fired upon, and the police and mob followed them up stairs, when they jumped from the windows, and were shot there on the streets—everywhere. More than than two hundred men were killed and wounded in less than thirty minutes. The next winter the House of Representatives sent a committee down there to investigate this horrid butchery. I will ask my friend to read to you from the report of the committee.

THE MASSACRE IN AUGUST, 1866.

Governor Baker read as follows: "The committee examined seventy-four persons as to the facts of violence and bloodshed upon that day. It is in evidence that men who were in the hall, terrified by the merciless attacks of the police, sought safety by jumping from the windows, a distance of twenty feet, to the ground, and, as they jumped, were shot by police or citizens. Some, disfigured by wounds, fought their way down stairs to the street, to be shot or beaten to death on the pavement. Colored persons at distant points in the city peaceably pursuing their lawful business were attacked by the police, shot, and cruelly beaten. Men of character and position, some of whom were members and some spectators of the convention, escaped from the hall covered with wounds and blood, and were preserved almost by a miracle from death. Scores of colored citizens bear frightful scars, more numerous than many soldiers of a dozen well-fought fields can show, proofs of fearful danger and strange escape; men were shot while waving handkerchiefs in token of surrender and submission; white men and black, with arms uplifted, praying for life were answered by shot and blow from knife and club; the bodies of some were 'pounded to a jelly;' a colored man was dragged from under a street crossing and killed at a blow: men concealed in out-houses and among piles of lumber were eagerly sought for and slaughtered and mained without remorse; the dead bodies upon the streets were violated by shot, kick and stab; the face of a man just breathing his last was gashed by a knife or a razor in the hands of a woman; an old gray-haired man, peacefully walking the street at a distance from the Institute, was shot through the head; negroes were taken out of their houses and shot; a policeman riding in a buggy deliberately fired his revolver from the carriage into a crowd of colored men; a colored man two miles away from the convention hall was taken from his shop by the police at about 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the riot and shot and wounded in the side, hip, and back; one man was wounded by fourteen blows, shots, and stabs; the body of another received seven pistol balls. After the slaughter had measureably ceased, carts, wagons, and drays driven through the streets, gathered the dead and dying, and the wounded, in promiscuous loads, a policeman in some cases riding in the wagon seated upon the living men beneath him. (Reports of committees, House of Representatives, second session Thirty-ninth Congress, page 10.)

Senator Morton. That is a very brief description of a massacre in the city of New Orleans in the middle of the day in August, 1866, of men who had simply assembled to hold a convention. Among others killed were Mr. Dosty, a white man of distinguished talents and character, and many others eminent in their professions, and who had done service in the armies of their country.

2,000 REPUBLICANS KILLED IN TWO MONTHS.

Time passed on. In 1868 Louisiana was reconstructed under acts of Congress. The first election of State Officers was held in the month of May, 1868, by the General of the Army. It was conducted under authority of the Government of the United States, and was confessedly a fair election. Nobody denied it. The Republican State ticket was elected by over 26,000 majority. There was a majority of colored men in Louisiana, and there are more blacks than whites there to-day, and there were thousands of white Republicans in addition, as there are to-day. The colored men voted the Republican ticket solidly. We carried the State in May by 26,000 majority. Afterward, in the summer, the Kuklux were organized in Louisiana, and between the 1st of September and the first Tuesday in November, only two months, they had killed and wounded over two thousand white and black Republicans in that State. A committee was sent down there by Congress to examine into the condition of affairs, and I will read to you a short extract from the report of the Committee on Southern Outrages: "The testimony shows that over two thousand persons were killed, wounded, and otherwise injured in that State within a few weeks prior to the Presidential election; that half the State was overrun by violence; midnight raids, secret murders, and open riot kept the people in constant terror, until the Republicans surrendered all claims, and the election was carried by the Democracy. The parish of New Orleans, contained 29,910 voters, 15,020 blacks. In the spring of 1868 that parish gave 13,9 73 Republican voles. In the fall of 1868 it gave Grant 1,178, a falling off of 12,795 votes. Riots prevailed for weeks, sweeping the city of New Orleans and filling it with scenes of blood, and Kuklux notices were scattered through the city, warning the colored men not to vote. In Caddo there were 2,987 Republicans. In the Spring of 1868 they carried the parish. In the fall they gave Grant one vote. Here, also, there were bloody riots.

THE RIOT IN SAINT LANDRY PARISH.

But the most remarkable case is that of Saint Landry, a planting parish on the river Techd. Here the Republicans had a registered majority of 1,071 votes. In the spring of 1868 they carried the parish by 678. In the fall they gave Grant no vote, not one, while the Democrats cast 4,787, the full vote of the parish, for Seymour and Blair. Here occurred one of the bloodiest riots on record, in which the Kuklux killed and wounded over two hundred Republicans, hunting and chasing them for two days and nights through fields and swamps. Thirteen captives were taken from the jail and shot. A pile of twenty-five bodies was found half burried in the woods. Having conquered the Republicans, killed and driven off the white leaders, the Kuklux captured the masses, masked them with badges of red flannel, enrolled them in clubs, led them to the polls, made them vote the Democratic ticket and then gave them certificates of the fact. Over two thousand men, according to this report, were killed and wounded within sixty days before the Presidential election of 1868; and the committee expressly say they did not go over nearly all the State. They did not get nearly all the cases.

THE RESULTS UPON THE VOTE.

Now what was the result? The Republicans carried the State in May by 26,000; the Democrats carried it in November by 41,000, making a change of 67,000 votes. To show you in detail how it worked I will give you the vote of some of the parishes. At the spring election the Republicans polled 628 votes in the parish of Bienville; in the fall election but one. In the parish of Bossier they polled 727 votes in the spring; in November one vote. In the parish of Caddo they polled 1,242 votes in the spring; in November one vote. In Claiborne parish they polled 719 votes in the spring; in November two votes. In De Soto parish they polled 649 votes in the spring; in November none. In Jackson they polled 490 votes in the spring; in November none. In Lafayette they polled 743 votes in the spring; in November none. In Morehouse they polled 547 votes in the spring; in November one. In Sabine they polled 196 votes in the spring; in November two. In St. Bernard they polled 524 votes in the spring; in November one. In St. Landry they polled 2,514 votes in the spring; in November none. In St. Martin they polled 1,057 votes in the spring; in November 25. In Union they polled 287 votes in the spring; in November one. In Vermillon they polled 133 votes in the spring; in November none. In Washington they polled 145 votes in the spring; in November none. I have not time to run over the whole list. Louisiana is a Republican State as certainly as Vermont and Massachusetts. After these murders of 1868 they quit killing negroes in droves and crowds, but in lonely fields and forests the solitary shooting went on.

GOVERNOR WARMOTH—THE COALITION.

Now I come to another chapter in this history. The Republicans had elected Governor Warmoth in 1868. He was a young man of good character at that time, and of great promise. He is a very brilliant, a magnetic man. He was engaged in all sorts of schemes. You have heard of the celebrated slaughterhouse act, in which he was a partner—of the levee bill and the Gulf canal bill. In all these schemes his partners were leading and wealthy Democrats in New Orleans, who furnished the money—bankers, capitalists, and insurance men. They were the directors in these institutions. In 1871 the Republican party sloughed Warmoth off. They could not and would not carry him longer. General Grant refused to see him in Washington; the Administration cast him off. Then he went to the Democratic party. He went, they said, to his own, and they received him gladly, although he had been held up by the Democratic press throughout the nation as the worst man in Louisiana—as the man who had ruined it. Yet, when he left the Republican party, the Democrats took him, and they formed a coalition. That coalition was the beginning of the troubles we are now discussing. Under the law of Louisiana, as it then stood, the Governor had the appointment of all the election officers in the different parishes, so that the whole of the machinery of the election was in his hands. It is a matter of proof taken before the committee at Washington, and is proven on the record by numerous witnesses, that the Democratic politicians of Louisiana made a coalition with Warmoth upon the express understanding and estimate that his control of the machinery of the election was equal to 20,000 votes. They believed that through him they could carry the State; without him they knew they could not do it. They made this contract with him: he was to carry the State for the Democratic ticket, and they in turn were to elect him to the Senate of the United States.

THE ELECTION IN 1872

The Democrats went into that election in 1872 relying wholly upon fraud for their success. [That is the way they do it here. Laughter—"Good! Good!"] Governor Warmoth tried to carry out his part of the contract, and did carry it out to the best of his ability. He succeeded in bringing in returns, many of them forged and altered, in New Orleans, showing that John D. McEnery, the Democratic candidate for Governor was elected over Kellogg. This matter came before the Senate and was referred to the committee of which I am chairman—the Committee on Privileges and Elections. We examined a great many witnesses, until we had taken a volume of nearly twelve hundred pages of testimony. The majority of the committee made a report, from which I dissented and made another. They reported that the whole election was void for fraud, and that neither McEnery nor Kellogg were elected. I know the impression has been made through the country, and was published, that the majority of that committee reported that McEnery, the Democratic candidate, was elected. Not so. They reported just the reverse—that nobody was elected; that the election was saturated with fraud, through and through in every parish and nearly every precinct. I dissented and took the ground that somebody was elected. I thought that the evidence showed that, notwithstanding all the fraud, Kellogg had a majority of 3,000 to 4,000 of all the votes put in the box, and if the election had been conducted fairly his majority would not have been less than sixteen thousand. To show what the report of the majority of the committee was I shall ask some friend who has a good voice to read an extract from the report of the committee. This report of the committee was made by Senator Carpenter, who introduced a bill to set aside the State government and call a new election in Louisiana, a bill predicated on the idea that nobody was elected and that the election was null. Mr. Blair read as follows:

"A careful consideration of the testimony convinces us that had the election of November last been fairly conducted and returned, Kellogg and his associates, and a Legislature composed of the same political party, would have been elected. The colored population of the State outnumbered the whites, and in the last election the colored voters were almost unanimous in their support of the Republican ticket. Governor Warmoth, who was elected by the Republicans of the State in 1868, had passed into opposition, and held in his hands the entire machinery of the election. He appointed the supervisors of registration, and they appointed the commissioners of election. The testimony shows a systematic purpose on the part of those conducting the election to throw every possible difficulty in the way of the colored voters in the matter of registration. The polling places are not fixed by law and at the last election they were purposely established by those conducting the election at places not easy to access in those parishes which were known to be largely Republican; so that in some instances voters had to travel over twenty miles to reach the polls. The election was generally conducted in quiet, and was, perhaps, unusually free from disturbance or riot. Governor Warmoth, who was the master spirit in the whole proceeding, seems to have relied upon craft rather than violence to carry the State for McEnery. In the canvass of votes which determined the McEnery government to be elected, the votes of several of the Republican parishes were rejected. The testimony shows that leading and sagacious politicians of the State, who were acting with Warmoth entertained the opinion before the election that Warmoth's control of the election machinery was equivalent to twenty thousand votes, and we are satisfied by the testimony that the opinion was well founded. We believe that had registration been accessible to all, and polling places properly established, the result of the election would have been entirely different and although we can not approve of such a canvass as that made by the Lynch board, who seem to have acted upon the principle of 'fighting the devil by fire,' and circumventing fraud by fraud, and can not say that Kellogg's government was defeated and the popular voice reverced by fraudulent manipulation. If the Senate should be inclined not to go behind the official returns of the election, then the McEnery government and Legislature must be recognized as the lawful government of the State, and McMillen, if regularly elected by that Legislature, should be seated in the Senate in place of Kellogg. But your committee believes that this would be recognizing a government based upon frand, in defiance of the wishes and intentions of the voters of that State."

Senator Morton. I beg leave to say to night here to all who insist on the election of McEnery that in doing so they insist upon the triumph of the greatest fraud that was ever practiced in this country at any election. It was most monstrous; it was wonderful in its details and its execution, as shown by the evidence. That was what drove the committee to the extraordinary conclusion that nobody was elected, and that the election was void. I looked at the evidence differently, and thought that after all Kellogg had a majority of the votes cast, and that he certainly was cheated out of twelve or fifteen thousand votes. Under the laws of Louisiana the returning board counts the votes to determine who are elected Governor and Lieutenant Governor, members of the Legislature and parish officers. This board consisted of five, two named in the act authorizing it, and the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and Secretary, who are members ex officio. The law provides that when a vacancy occurs within the board the members shall fill it. There were the vacancies. If they were filled by Warmoth then they would become a Warmoth board, and count the fraudulently elected candidates in. If they were filled by Lynch, his opponent, it would be called a Republican board. Each party tried to fill it. The Supreme Court decided that the Lynch board, or anti-Wormoth board, was the lawful board. They decided that in several cases. That board counted the votes, and declared the Republican candidates elected. After this board had been elected they called upon Governor Warmoth for the returns which had been sent him after the election. They made two demands, but he refused to give them up. The returns were concealed somewhere in the city, and could not be found. Then, after waiting for them, and not being able to get them, they went on to count the votes without them. There is where the illegality occurred. I never justified their action in that case, and never justified Judge Durell's action. I said in my report that it was not for me to go behind the courts of the State, in regard to which was the lawful board. The State court decided that the Lynch board was the lawful one, and that their finding of who was elected was conclusive.

THE PROPOSAL FOR A NEW ELECTION.

Now, one word in regard to my own action in the Senate. When the majority of the committee brought in the bill for a new election I opposed it upon the ground that the returning board, created to count and determine who are elected, had made their decision, and it was not competent for Congress to go behind it. That board might have decided without the proper vote, or upon false testimony. They might not have had the proof, but they made the finding, and the Supreme Court decided that the finding was conclusive. I took the ground in the Senate, and I flatter myself that my argument was never answered, that so far as a State election was concerned the election of State officers must be determined by State tribunals, and when settled by the Supreme Court of the State, or by those tribunals created on purpose to decide State elections, that was conclusive, and the Government of the United State and Congress could not go behind the decision of these tribunals and count the votes and determine who are elected. The decision of the State tribunals upon purely State questions arising under State laws, in which no statute of the United States and no provision of the Constitution of the United States were involved, was final and conclusive. In that I was sustained by a majority of the Senate. The case was made in New York in 1868. The Democratic candidate for office was elected by notorious frauds in the city of New York. The Republican candidate was elected by not less than fifteen thousand majority, but that majority was overcome by regiments of repeaters in New York, organized by Boss Tweed, and marched from poll to poll and voted the whole day through. It was a monstrous fraud, and the Democratic candidate was counted in. Suppose the attempt had been made in the Senate to turn Hoffman out and put the other in. It could not have been done; the answer would have been that Hoffman had been declared elected by the State tribunals established for that purpose, and that the Congress of the United States could not go behind that decision. Take a case right here: Suppose General Browne should contest the election of Hon. Thomes A. Hendricks as Governor of this State. Suppose the friends of General Browne should say that Governor Hendricks had obtained his small majority by repeating in the city of Indianapolis or Fort Wayne, or importing votes in Evansville or New Albany. Suppose they could even prove it, would it be competent now to go behind the State tribunals after Governor Hendricks had been recognized for two years and turn him out? Every body would say no. What is the difference in the circumstances between Kellogg and McEnery? The ground I took I regarded at the time as impregnable, although the bill was only defeated two years ago by a small majority. Yet, when it was brought forward last session, it was not pressed to a vote, for Senator Carpenter found that it would not have half a dozen votes in the whole body. I have no defense to make for the wrongs committed by the Republicans of Louisiana. They committed some fraud undoubtedly. They violated the law in some cases. They have urged in their justification that in their opinion they were engaged in a struggle for life. They believed that a Democratic State government would be the signal for murder and slaughter; that white Republicans would be driven from the State; that it was a struggle for life, for home. I have no apology to make for any irregularities committed by them.

THE COLFAX MASSACRE.

In the month of April, 1873, another slaughter took place at Colfax, in Grant parish, which was Republican by about three hundred majority. The official returns from Grant parish were proved before the Senate committee to have been forged through by Warmoth's men, as were the Warmoth returns from seven other parishes in the State. Governor Kellogg commissioned the Democratic candidates as elected, when they were notoriously defeated. About the 1st of April Nash, the Democratic candidate for sheriff, gave the sheriff notice that he would turn him out of office, and demanded possession of it. The sheriff and other parish officers heard that forces were being collected in the neighboring parishes to capture the place and take possession of the offices, and they summoned a posse of about five hundred colored men to protect themselves. On Easter Sunday, I believe, the 13th of April, Nash, the Democratic candidate appeared with one Hadnot, the commander of the forces, a member of the McEnery Legislature, who held a commission from McEnery. The town was surrounded by about twelve hundred men. The negroes retired into the court-house, on one side of which there were no windows. Nash and his forces approached on that side and set the court-house on fire. When the flames arose the negroes could not stay and held out white handkerchiefs in token of surrender, and then rushed out through the fire, many of them with their clothes burning. As they passed they were seized and stabbed or shot. The evidence showed that three or four white men would hold a negro while another would put a pistol to his mouth and kill him. Many of the dead had twelve or fifteen wounds on their persons. The evidence laid before the grand-jury, which was the evidence I saw, showed that about thirty of these men were marched down to the river bank and shot there. Several men would be placed in a row, breast to back, and one of these ruffians standing at the end of a row would see how many bodies he could shoot his bullet through! Three days after the massacre fifty-seven dead bodies wore found around the court-house. They could not tell how many were killed in all, but the evidence showed over one hundred. It was one of the most cruel and unprovoked slaughters that ever took place. I have spoken of the recent massacre which took place at Coushatta. Between these killings the murders have been constantly going on.

THERE MUST BE SECURITY IN THE SOUTH.

Now you have something of the condition of Lousianna. I repeat, it has been a slaughter-house for eight years. Who are the men now demanding the State government of Louisiana? They are the assassins of 1866, of 1868, and of 1873—the same men, not one of whom has ever been punished to this day. It is too late now, as I said before, to inquire who was elected in Louisiana. There must be some things settled, or you can not carry on a government. There must be some time when questions of that kind can not be raised. There must be some tribunal whose decisions upon such questions must be respected as final. As Kellogg has been recognized and sustained for nearly two years, it was entirely too late to raise the question as to who was elected. I have gone through with this history, and shall conclude what I have to say upon it with the remark that beyond all question Governor Kellogg did at the time of his inauguration, and does now, represent the politics of a large majority of the people of Louisana; that McEnery represented only the minority ; that his pretended election was the most monstrous fraud ever attempted to be practiced in this country. Yet how much capital has been made by northern orators and the Northern Democratic press out of the Louisana case. It has been a case of great irregularities; there have been frauds undoubtedly, on both sides, and there have been wrongs. But the frauds and wrongs upon the Republican side have been less than those upon the other side, in this, that they have been free from blood. Many of them have been committed in self-defense, it is said. But I justify none of them. Yet when the Republicans were murdered, their ranks decimated ; when they were hunted from day to day and from night to night need we be greatly surprised it they did not observe the law strictly ? Murder is no remedy for wrong. There is a large responsibility resting upon the Democratic party in this whole business. If the Democratic party of the North, instead of denying these murders and excusing them and apologizing for them, would denounce them, it would go very far toward stopping them. But they will continue. As long as there is a great party in the North that will justify and defend these men you may expect such crimes to be carried on in the South. But for the course of the Democratic party in the North we know there would have been no rebellion. The South never would have embarked in it but for the belief that the Democratic party of the North would hold the Government still while they walked out of the Union. They would have given up the war long before they did, but for the belief that the Democratic party of the North would come into power and stop the war on our side. Throughout all the wrongs that have been committed since 1865 the great body of the Democratic party in the North have been denying and excusing what has been done in the South. I say to-night that as long as this stream of murder goes on in the South there is no help for the South. If you would reform the South, if you would make the South prosperous and happy, you must stop the murder business. It must cease, or there is no salvation for the South. Men will go there to live. Thousands are ready to fly from there as soon as they can. Commerce and agricultural pursuits languish, labor is not paid or flourishing. No government can flourish in the presence of murder. From the time that Cain killed Abel down to the murders in the streets of New Orleads last Monday murder has always brought its own punishment, and always will. The South must protect the lives and property of all races alike. The great fundamental principle of this government now is liberty, equality, and equal rights to all. And until the South recognizes and enforces that principle there will be no peace. We can not go back. We have made four millions and a half of slaves free ; we have clothed them with equal civil and political rights, and we are bound before God and before the world to protect them in the enjoyment of those rights. As I have said to you, I was told the other day by a distinguished Southern man that there could be no peace in the South as long as the negro was allowed to vote. I answered him there can be no peace in this country, and there will be none, until the right of all men are everywhere recognized and enforced. I say, again, the murder business must be stopped. Innocent blood cries to heaven, and makes barren the soil on which it is shed. ["That is true," and applause.] Innocent blood contaminates like the plague, and wherever it flows the land springs up with dragons' teeth. Those who instigate murder must perish in it. Not to do so is to reverse the decrees of the Almighty. Security for life and security for property lie at the foundation of society.

They are the basis of integrity, of morals, of religion, and of all that holds men together in society. Until security shall be established in the South there will be no peace, no prosperity there. I ask if our Democratic neighbors in this State of Indiana are willing to connive at the murder of men in the South because they are colored or are Republicans ? Remember that white Republicans shared the fate of negroes in many places in the South. Our Democratic neighbors must not directly or indirectly permit themselves to connive at or defend murders that take place in the South. The time has come to speak out, and we must cry aloud on this subject. It is the duty of every man, I don't care what his politics may be. It rises far above all party questions. It is the duty of every citizen to frown upon this crime, to put it down by his influence, his voice, and his vote. If you love the South stop murder in the South. If you want to be the friend of the colored people, then compel the whites to treat them peacefully and observe the law. If you desire the South to flourish and to become again rich, prosperous, and happy, encourage her to be humane, and protect life and property ; to tolerate all opinions, for there can be no prosperity there until it can be as safe to be a Republican in the South, as it is to be a Democratic, [Good! good! applause,] until you can go there, and although they call you carpet-bagger, be as safe as you are in Indiana. No Northern man can go there now and live in safety and comfort. I care not if he be a Democrat "dyed in the wool," as the phrase goes ; the fact that he comes from the North subjects him to suspicion. They call him a Yankee carpet-bagger, and he can hardly go far enough in his expressions to relieve himself from suspicion. It is said now that, if any man will come South, and spend six weeks—any man who is a Democrat—it will cure him of his Democracy forever. It may be the best thing for us to do to raise a fund, and get our Democratic friends down there for a short trip, sure that they would all come back true and firm Republicans. But, as I said, this is a question that rises above all parties and party names. Whether you are a Republican or a Democrat, I appeal to you as a man, as a Christian, as the father of a family, can yon afford to aid indirectly or directly in this vast stream of murder that is now broadening and deepening throughout the Southern States ? My friends, let us resolve, each one, to go and do what we conscientiously believe to be our duty in the premeses.

Ayer's
Cherry Pectoral,
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping-Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Among the great discoveries of modern science, few are of more real value to mankind than this effecthal remedy for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. A vast trial of its virtues, throughout this and other countries, has shown that it does surely and effectually control them. The testimony of our best citizens, of all classes, establishes the fact, that CHERRY PECTORAL will and does relieve and cure the afflicting disorders of the Throat and Lungs beyond any other medicine. The most dangerous affections of the Pulmonary Organs yield to its power; and cases of Consumption, cured by this preparation, are publicly known, so remarkable as hardly to be believed, were they not proven beyond dispute. As a remedy it is adequate, on which the public may rely for full protection. By curing Coughs, the forerunners of more serious disease, it saves unnumbered lives, and an amount of suffering not to be computed. It challenges trial, and convinces the most sceptical. Every family should keep it on hand as a protection against the early and unperceived attacks of Pulmonary Affections, which are easily met at first, but which become incurable, and too often fatal, if neglected. Tender lungs need this defence; and it is unwise to be without it. As a safeguard to children, amid the distressing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of childhood, CHERRY PECTORAL is invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued from premature graves, and saved to the love and affection centred on them. It acts speedily and surely against ordinary colds, securing sound and health-restoring sleep. No one will suffer troublesome Influenza and painful Bronchitis, when they know how easily they can be cured.

Originally the product of long, laborious, and successful chemical investigation, no cost or toil is spared in making every bottle in the utmost possible perfection. It may be confidently relied upon as possessing all the virtues it has ever exhibited, and capable of producing cures as memorable as the greatest it has ever effected.

CALDWELL'S
WINE AND IRON BITTERS

These celebrated Bitters are pure, safe and reliable; composed of Roots, Barks and Herbs with Citrate of Iron and pure native wine, made from the native grapes of California, the ingredients are choice, strengthening, purifying and life-giving medicinal agents, forming the most pleasant and healthy stimulating tonic and strengthening Bitters for improving the appetite giving tone and vital energy to the blood and system. For medicinal purposes, for family use, travelers, voyagers, etc., they cannot be surpassed.
These bitters are in an eminent degree strengthening, purifying, diuretic stimulating and nourishing to the whole system, giving new life and activity to every organ and part alike, without that ever recurring reaction that follows the use of most all other tonics and stimulants in the market. For

No other Bitters in the universe can equal them. I lack space for detailing the availability of these Bitters, but will briefly state its general effects upon the human system, as follows:
It absolutely Purifies the Blood. It speedily corrects all morbid changes in the Blood. It equalizes the circulation of the Blood. It regulates the supply and quality of the blood. It prepares the Blood to furnish a proper support to all the vital properties. It enriches the constituents of the Blood upon which the vital energy of the system is dependent. It infuses the proper degree of animal heat in the system. It purges from the system the morbid humors which retard its natural functions. It imparts vitality and elasticity to every organ of the body. It corrects all derangements, however trivial, which are the first origin of Disease. It promotes the operation of the digestive organs. It improves the appetite and removes all disagreeable feeling after eating. It perfects digestion, rendering it natural and easy. It acts as a mild and efficacious stomachic. It elevates the standard of all the vital forces. It strengthens the nervous fibres and diffuses a calm throughout the nervous system. It destroys all morbid conditions of the mind. It disperses dullness and languor. It banishes those clogs upon pleasure which produce gloom. It drives away those distressing symptoms which rob us of happiness. It revives the physical energies by infusing new life and power into the system. It fortifies the system against the dangers of malaria, fluctuations of the temperature changes in the climate, &c. In short, it prepares the system for the radical change to be wrought in its condition, and restores it to perfect health and natural vigor.

VINEGAR BITTERS
VEGETABLE FREE FROM
PURELY CALIFORNIA ALCOHOL
DR. WALKER'S
EUREKA
VINEGAR BITTERS

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.
The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

History of the Presbytery of Huntingdon, by Rev. W. J. Gibson, D. D. Bellefonte Press Co., Bellefonte, Pa.

This handsome octavo of nearly 400 pages contains five lithographs of several prominent churches, and of a number of the old ministers and elders of this venerable Presbytery. This book will be especially valued by the members of the Presbytery of Huntingdon, but no doubt many who have moved to the West and other distant points in our country, will be anxious to secure a copy of it. As a limited edition only has been published those who wish to obtain it would do well to make early application. The price is $2.50, free of postage. Any person who wishes can procure it by enclosing this sum to the author, Rev. J. W. Gibson, D. D., Duncansville, Pa., or to Bellefonte Press Company, Bellefonte, Pa.

—Church's Musical Visitor for October commences a new volume, and is fully up to its usual standard. This number opens with an interesting chapter from the life of "Mendelsshon." A delightful musical story follows. "The Fallacy of overlapping Registers" offers, in plain terms, an explanation of the evils of many systems of local culture. The "Correspondence" department is entertaining, and "Pleasant Riderhood's Pleasantries" are full of life and laughter. "October," a poem by D. M. Jordan, possesses great beauty of language and originality of thought. The Miscellaneous and Editorial departments furnish much sound and useful reading, while the "Musical Hopper," and "Personal Notes" are sustained with unflagging interest. The musical contents embrace two new songs, a mazurka and a waltz—eleven pages of music, the cost of which would be not less than $1.50, if bought at music stores. The price of the Visitor is 1.50 a year. Specimen copy sent on application to the publishers, JOHN CHURCH & CO., Cincinnati, Ohio.

—"La Creme de la Creme" is the title of a collection of music for advanced players, which has been received by us. This is the—number that has been issued of the publication, and it contains five pieces of carefully selected music that is worth two dollars, while the cost of the periodical for a year is only four dollars to subscribers. It is the cream of the finest music that is contained in this publication. By sending the above sum to J. L. Peters, 599 Broadway, New York, this periodical will be furnished for one year, or a sample copy for fifty cents.

PETERS' MUSICAL MONTHLY.—In this progressive and enlightened age when every family boasts of a piano, it is indispensible that they should be supplied with the best music, at reasonable rates. Peters' Musical Monthly is the leading publication of America, where the very choicest gems of the musical world are to be found. Here we find a book of over 30 pages of music, from the leading musicians of the land, and supplied for thirty cents a number, or three dollars a year. It is published every month, giving at least 360 pages in the course of the year. J. L. Peters, 599 Broadway, New York, is the publisher. Send thirty cents for a sample copy.

AMERICAN HOMES.—Henry L. Shepherd & Co., Boston, New York and Chicago. Most remarkable has been the success of the publishers of American Homes, who have succeeded in making that magazine high toned yet popular. That this is the fact is evidenced by the table of contents of the October number before us. "Ashsah," the New England story, is more powerful with every issue. "The Mysterious Island," by Jules Verne, is continued and is gaining in interest. The short stories and poems are well written and strong, and the editorial matter and the children's department are fully up to the mark.

Philadelphia Market Report.

Monday, Oct 12, 1874.

REMARKS.—The general aspect of trade has varied but little since our last notice. In some departments there has been a moderate degree of activity with a better tone in some of the leading staples of the country, but the aggregate business is far below what was generally anticipated. Breadstuffs move slowly, but for local consumption and export, and prices of Flour and Wheat continue to rule low, while Corn is extravagantly high. The downward tendency in manufactured goods has been arrested by the determination of the Woolen and Cotton manufacturers to reduce their production.

WHEAT.—The Wheat market continues very steady, notwithstanding the unfavorable tenor of the foreign advices. Supplies come in slowly, and the stock here is very moderate. The millers purchase sparingly, but there has been rather more inquiry for shipment. Sales of 44,400 bus Indiana Red at $1.21@1.22, f. o. b.; 8,000 bus Ohio and Indiana do, part from the cars, at $1.19@1.22; 1,500 bus Delaware Red at $1.22@1.24; 400 bus Hill at $1.25; 26,600 bus Western Amber at $1.23@127; and 8,000 bus Michigan and other Western White at $1.28@1.30 for fair, up to $1.33@1.35 for good and choice. Receipts for week 80,200 bus.

OATS.—The market has been steady, but without much activity. Sales of 60,000 bus Western White at 60@62c; 6,000 bus do, choice, at 63@65c; and 6,700 bus do black and white mixed at 58@60c. Receipts for week 136,600 bus.

OAT MEAL.—is unaltered. We quote at $8.25@8.50 for Canada; $7.75@8 for Western, and $7.00 ₱ bbl for Penna.

BUCKWHEAT.—Continues dull.

BUCKWHEAT MEAL.—Is beginning to come in, and 100 bags sold at $4.50—a decline.

BARLEY.—Continues to rule dull and nominal, the maisters holding off for lower prices than holders are willing to accept. New York four-rowed is offered at $1.30 and two-rowed at $1.15@1.20, without finding buyers. Receipts for week, 9,000 bus.

RYE.—Is scarce and looking up. Sales of 800 bus of Penna. and Western at $1.05@1.08—an advance.

CORN.—The receipts have been quite moderate, but with a very limited inquiry, prices have dropped off 3@4c. Sales of 30,200 bus Penna. and Western Yellow at $1.03, down to $1@1,01; 9,000 bus Western high mixed at $1.02, down to 96c—mostly at our lowest figures; 8,000 bus do do on secret terms; 400 bus Maryland White at $1.01; and 400 bus do damaged at 98c. The Cable advices record a further decline in Liverpool. To-day the market closed more active and 1c higher, with sales of 5,000 bus Penna. and Western Yellow at $1.01@1.02; and 400 bus Western mixed at $1. Receipts for week 42,900 bus.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

GOLD 1.10¼

The general trade of the East has given no indication of improvement, but on the contrary, in consequence of recent failures and fears of other suspensions yet to come, business is becoming more unsettled and less promising than was supposed a few weeks ago. Notwithstanding call loans are still made at 2½@3 per cent and prime mercantile paper sell readily at 6@7 per cent, the cotten and other manufacturers of the eastern states have reduced their working time to forty hours or four days per week. This on the eve of approaching winter makes the out look rather gloomy. It is very evident that there is a surplus of manufactured articles in the market, ank until this surplus shall have been reduced, it will be impossible for manufacturers to successfully resume operations. There has been an immense amount of indebtedness liquidated during the past year. Speculation has been laid aside for the time, and caution is on a more healthy basis than it has been at any other time since the close of the war. Every body has been taught a wholesome lesson, and those who have plenty to spend are now economizing as well as those who are short of means and by the time business revives we will all be benefitted by our unexpected experience.

Grain and Flour Markets.

BELLEFONTE, Oct. 14, 1874.

The supply of grain at the mills in our town has been hardly up to the demand during the week and we note an advance of five cents per bushel on wheat, which our farmers will see is quite up to the price in Philadelphia. This is rather remarkable in our market, when we come to consider that Centre county has a surplus which must seek a market out of the county. One might suppose, as a Wall street broker would say, the holders are bulling the market. The demand for Rye, Corn and Oats is quite up to the supply, but we have no changes in prices to make. Inquiries are being made every day, as to prospects for new corn, but we are not advised that price has been fixed.

White Wheat per bushel	$1 20
Red wheat No. 1	1 15@1 20
Rye per bushel	90
Corn, ears,	90
Shelled corn	90
Oats, new	60
Flour, retail per barrel	$7.00
Flour, wholesale	$6,00

Hay and Straw. In addition to our usual reports, we to-day add the prices of hay and straw, and by reference to the quotations, it will be seen that hay is in full sympathy with wheat and commands as high a figure in Bellefonte as it does in Philadelphia. It seems to us that hay at fifteen dollars per ton is one of the best paying products that farmers can produce and we feel quite surprised when we consider that hay has brought on an average about eighteen to twenty dollars per ton in Bellefonte for several years past, in the midst of a farming community, that the supply should be still limited. This is to be accounted for from the fact that a few farmers have supplied the market for years without competition and there is no reason why consumers should not begin to welcome some new faces in the forage trade of our town.

Hay choice per ton	$25 00
Hay Meadow per ton	20 00
Straw for packing glass	10 00
Straw for making paper	8 00

Messrs. Herbert & Fredericks, dealers in Hogs, were in town last week and purchased a second car load of swine for which they paid six cents per pound gross weight. It is customery to make a deduction of twenty pounds to the hundred on the live weight, but in this instance no deduction was made.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

ALL people would undoubtedly prefer a fine head of hair grown upon their own heads, to being bald, or wearing false hair, and it has been the study of many of our learned men to find a remedy to restore the hair when it has fallen out, and renew its color after it becomes gray. Such a remedy has been found and is now offered to the world under the name of Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer; and, to verify this statement, read the following:—

This is to certify that I was very bald; in fact my head was perfectly smooth ; and it is common in my family to grow bald early in life. I have now used four bottles of Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer; and the hair has grown out all over my head, and is now a natural brown. BARTLEY COLON.

SCIPIO, JENNINGS Co., IND,
May 28, 1868.

Personally appeared before me Bartley Colon and upon oath, says the above statement is true.
M. G. BUSLER, Notary Public.

EDWARD BAYER, Esq., Hortin, Kings Co., N. S., writes that an astonishing cure has been effected on his daughter by the use of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. The whole spine became diseased, she lost the use of her limbs, and her back was rounded up like a bow, in consequence of taking cold after having been innoculated for the kine pock. She is now well.

We pledge our reputation on the assertion that any educated physician, after a careful examination of the recipe, will say that Parsons' Purgative Pills possess more merit than any other pill now offered for sale.

IF Alcoholic stimulents are taken into the blood the heart works faster, and this unnatural speed wears out the vital machinery. All intoxicating nostrums advertised as tonics, renovators, &c., produce this disastrous effect, and should be rejected. Dr. Walker's Vegetable Vinegar Bitters—an Invigorant without the curse of alcohol—is everywhere suppianting these poisons. 37—4w

NOTICE OF MEETING.—The stockholders of the Agricultural College and Junction turnpike will meet at the banking house of John I. Thompson & Co., Lemont, on Monday, Nov. 2, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year.
MOSES THOMPSON.
40-3t President.

IF THE DRUGGIST OFFERS any kind of herb-flavored alcohol for dyspesia, billiousness, or any other ailment, tell him that you want medicine, not a bar-room drink. Ask him for Dr. Walker's, California Bitters, the best regulating preparation known, and which you know is free from Satan Elixir. Reject all the fiery Tonics and Appetizers, and cling to that remedy, There is no medicine that compares with it. 37-4w

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED
SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,
SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC,
SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS,
Are the only medicines that will cure Pulmonary Consumption.

Frequently medicines that will stop a cough will occasion the death of the patient; they lock up the liver, stop the circulation of the blood, hemorrhage follows, and in fact, they clog the action of the very organs that cause the cough.

Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia are the causes of two-thirds of the cases of Consumption. Many persons complain of a dull pain in the side, constipation, coated tongue, pain in the shoulder-blade, feelings of drowsiness and restlessness, the food lying heavily upon the stomach, accompanied with acidity and belching up of wind.

These symptoms usually originate from a disordered condition of the stomach or a torpid liver.

Persons so effected, if they take one or two heavy colds, and if the cough in these cases be suddenly checked, will find the stomach and liver clogged, remaining turpid and inactive, and almost before they are aware the lungs are a mass of sores, and ulcerated, the result of which is death.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is an expectorant which does not contain opium or anything calculated to check the cough suddenly.

Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic dissolves the food, mixes with the gastric juices of the stomach, aids digestion and creates a ravenous appetite.

When the bowels are costive, skin sallow, or the symptoms otherwise of a billious tendency, Schenck's Mandrake Pills are required.

These medicines are prepared only by
J. H. SCHENCK & SON,
N. E corner Sixth and Arch Sts., Phila.
And are for sale by all druggists and dealers.

BOOK AGENTS WANTED to sell the NEW BOOK TELL IT ALL
By Mrs. Stenhouse of Salt Lake City, for 25 years the wife of a Mormon High Priest. Introduction by Mrs. Stowe.
This story of a woman's experience lays bare the "hidden life," mysteries, secret doings, etc. of the Mormons as a "wide-awake woman sees them." Bright, Pure and Good, it is the best new book out, actually overflowing with good things for all. It is popular everywhere, with everybody, and outsells all other books three to one. Ministers say "God speed it." Eminent women endorse it. Everybody wants it; and agents are selling from 10 to 20 a day! 25th thousand now in press! We want 5,000 more trusty agents NOW—men or women—and we will mail Outfit Free to those who will canvass. Large pamphlets with full particulars, terms, etc. sent free to all. Address A. D. Worthington & Co., Hartford, Conn.

WATERS' NEW SCALE PIANOS

HAVE YOU TRIED JURUBEBA?
ARE YOU
Weak, Nervous or Debilitated?
Are you so Languid that any exertion requires more of an effort than you feel capable of making?
Then try JURUBEBA, the wonderful tonic and invigorator, which acts so beneficially on the secretive organs as to impart vigor to all the vital forces.
It is no alcoholic appetizer, which stimulates for a short time, only to let the sufferer fall to a lower depth of misery, but it is a vegetable tonic acting directly on the liver and spleen.
It regulates the Bowels, quiets the nerves, and gives such a healthy tone to the whole system as to soon make the invalid feel like a new person.
Its operation is not violent, but is characterized by great gentleness; the patient experiences no sudden change, no marked results, but gradually his troubles

"Fold their tents, like the Arabs,
And silently steal away."

This is no new and untried discovery, but has been long used with wonderful remedial results, and is pronounced by the highest medical authorities, "the most powerful tonic and alternative known."
Ask your druggist for it.

☞ Two other water powers adjoining, unimproved, with land sufficient for any manufacturing purpose. 6-8-tf.

AT PRIVATE SALE.
A valuable farm containing 215 acres, situate within one mile of Milesburg, and three miles of Bellefonte, at the junction of the Bald Eagle Valley and Snow Shoe railroads, near the depot. Schools, Churches, Post office, Mills, etc. The lands are FREE from STONE, level, well fenced, and under a good state of cultivation. A valuable vein of LIME STONE ROCK
is on the farm, and a village is growing up around it, which gives a fair prospect of an increase in value before long. The Philipsburg turnpike runs through it for a distance of ½ of a mile rendering a large strip on each side available for house lots, from which the entire price of the farm might be realized, lots having sold heretofore for $100 apiece. The farm is well watered, having water in all the fields, good wells at the house and barn with pumps all in good order. There also are 50 acres of good
PINE AND OAK TIMBER.
The land has a southern exposure and is therefore very early. There are two houses on the farm, both facing the turnpike. One containing five rooms on the first floor with Hall and five on the second and back Kitchen, with room over-head. Connected with this house is a good log barn, ice house and other out buildings. On the other side of the road is the other house containing eight rooms with good barn and out buildings. This farm could be divided into two parts, and will be purchasers so desire, making one containing 130 acres with the large house, and the other containing 36 acres with the small house. Terms easy. Inquire of James L. Sommerville, or R. T. Downing, or at the office of the Bellefonte REPUBLICAN. 38 tf.

TYSON'S LINIMENT.

FOUND AT LAST!

THE GREATEST HEALING COMPOUND EVER DISCOVERED!

TYSON'S
UNIVERSAL LINIMENT

Will cure more cases of the following named diseases than any other preparation of the same nature in the market.

For Sprains, Bruises, Swellings, Wounds of all kinds, Pain in the Head, Chest, Side, Back or Limbs, Contracted Muscles, Swollen Joints, Lameness, Sore Throat, Mumps, Stings of Insects, Weakness of the Joints, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Bites of Animals, Inflamed Breasts, Chilblains, and for allaying acute pains of all kinds.

FOR THE FARMER AND HORSEMAN

it is invaluable, curing the worst cases of Sweeny, Scratches, Galls, Flesh Wounds, etc., and can be used in ALL CASES where a counter-irritant is required.

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED.

A single trial will convince the most incredulous.

FULL DIRECTIONS ON EACH BOTTLE.

Put up in large bottles at 50 cents and $1.

HOME TESTIMONY.

We give below a few certificates out of the many received to show the reputation of this Liniment at home. The first is from the well-known iron firm of Valentine & Co.

BELLEFONTE FORGES, June 10th, 1874.

This is to certify to whom it may concern that we have used Tyson's Liniment, in cases of Sweeny and other diseases, on a valuable mule which we had given up as entirely useless, and after a few applications the mule was entirely cured, and is now in full work and as good as he ever was.
VALENTINE & Co.

BELLEFONTE, June 10th, 1874.

E. TYSON—Dear Sir:—I hereby acknowledge the value of your Universal Liniment. A valuable mare of mine was badly lamed in the pasture joint. I tried numerous remedies. She grew worse all the time, and I found would become permanently worthless. Your Liniment was recommended to me, and after the use of a single bottle she was entirely cured. I would cheerfully recommend it as an invaluable remedy. I. LOSH.

BELLEFONTE, June, 1874.

I can cheerfully recommend the Liniment made by Mr. Tyson, having used it for a bruised foot, which it cured effectually. F. B. WILSON.

MESSRS. TYSON & Co.—Gents:—I have been suffering with a severe Rheumatism in my shoulder for several years, the pain at times being almost unbearable. Having tried many remedies without getting relief, I was at first reluctant to try your Universal Liment, but am happy to say that, having at last concluded to try it, I secured immediate relief, and after using about one-third of a bottle was entirely cured. Please send me another bottle, as I would not be without it. MRS. C. GOSSLER.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., June 15th, 1874.

This is to certify that I had my shoulder and arm badly sprained while in the act of shoeing a mule, and that I was perfectly cured in forty-eight hours by using one bottle of Tyson's Liniment. I can recommend this Liniment as superior to any I have ever used. P. BENJ. SCHROCK.

BELLEFONTE, June 16th, 1874.

This is to certify that I had Rheumatic pains in my arms, and after having applied Tyson's Universal Liniment once the pain disappeared. F. MULLEN.

MESSRS. TYSON & CO.:—I derived great benefit and relief from the use of Tyson's Liniment in a case of Rheumatism affecting my arm and shoulder, and cheerfully recommend its use to those suffering from like causes. S. H. YOCUM.

BELLEFONTE, June 25th, 1874.

MR. E. TYSON—Dear Sir:—Since writing you of the benefit of your Liniment some days since, I have had another case that attests its value to a much greater degree than the former. One of the most valuable horses in my stable became so lame in the fore-shoulder that I could not use him. In fact, he was so bad that I feared I would lose the use of him entirely. He was completely worthless, and after working for days to ascertain the cause, and failing, I used your Liniment, rubbing his shoulder well with it, until a couple of bottles were used, when, to my surprise and gratification, he became fit to work, and is now entirely well. ISAAC LOSH, SR.

Manufactured for Tyson & Co., by F. P. Green, Druggist, Bellefonte, Pa., a fac-simile of whose signature will appear upon the copyrighted wrapper around each bottle, without which none is genuine, and to whom all wholesale orders should be addressed.

STATE FAIR AT EASTON. THE GRANGERS AND WONDERS SEEN AT THE AFFAIR.

The State Fair at Easton was an incident of a good deal of importance to the farming interests of the State. The grounds are situated on an elevated spot above the city, with a large, commodious building in the centre. The view from the high grounds was very fine. One area enclosed contains twenty seven acres, which makes a field sufficiently large for the purpose intended. There was a goodly number in attendance during the five days, but Thursday was the day which called forth the largest crowd during the week. Every train poured forth its immense mass, and from morning till long after noon, the large masses moved up to the Fair grounds. It was estimated by good judges that there were thirty thousand people in the enclosure. The exhibition was called the best ever made on the occasion of a State Fair. The ladies department was very fine. Among the Sewing Machines, Wilson's did not appear. That Machine graduated at Vienna. The products of the farm were good except the fruit, which was quite inferior. Among the farming utensils, we noticed a set of the Granger Mowing and Reaping Machines, known as the "Climax," and manufactured by the Gibbs & Sterett Manufacturing Co., at Corry, Erie Co., Pa. The gentleman who had the care of the machines was a Mr. Bright, who explained the working of the instruments, and did it so well that he took orders for one hundred during the week. This gentleman is known to the Grangers in Centre Co., to whom he sells the machines at whole sale prices. The Grangers flocked around our friend Bright who employs no agents, and they get their own commission. Mr. Bright could see a Granger as far as a hawk could see a chicken, he knew them all. Among the wonders seen at the fair was an English Stallion, weighing twenty four hundred exhibited in America. There was another large horse weighing nearly eighteen hundred, a very fine animal. Another new thing to many of the crowd was the Holstein horned cattle, black with a broad, white band around their body, and all exactly alike. This seemed to be the only feature which added value to them. There was an American steer that weighed thirty five hundred pounds which could be seen for twenty cents. Another wonder was the adroitness with which pickpockets drove their business. There stands a man who a little while ago showed a large amount of money and boasted no one could pick his pocket, a few minutes more, and his pocket was empty, and he was a nice man. Yonder goes a lady crying as if her heart would break, her watch had disappeared, valued at four hundred dollars. There is another lady in grief, her pocket book has taken wings and all her money in it, and so on to the end of the chapter. And all this done in broad day-light. The hotels were invaded, and watches, and diamond pins suddenly disappeared. Pocket picking is now reduced to a science, and no man is shrewd enough to escape if at all exposed. Another wonder at the fair was a man one hundred and twelve years old. The sat in his tent, and received his friends at ten cents a sight. Many men at eighty looked older than he. He was watched over by a younger aged seventy three. His name was Labor. He belongs to a long lived family. His father was married at the age of one hundred years. whether he is still living we did not hear. Altogether the fair was a success. Easton would like to have the fair there every year, it was a harvest to hotels and stores. ALPHA.

by which we will hereafter steer our craft.

ONE PRICE.

WANAMAKER & BROWN, S. E. Cor. 6th and Market Sts.

CASH RETURNED. W. & B. COMPASS CASH PAYMENT.

FULL GUARANTEE.

EXPLANATION AND ELABORATION

OF WANAMAKER & BROWN'S NEW PLAN.

1st POINT. "CASH."

Houses doing a credit business must provide for losses on bad debts, interest on long-standing accounts, capital locked up, etc. To bear such losses themselves would drive them out of business. Therefore a per cent. is added to the price of each article sold, to cover this leakage, and Cash Buyers whether they know it or not, really pay the bad debts and the interest on the long credits of the other customers!! Under the Cash Payment system one pays only for what he gets, and contributes nothing to a "Sinking Fund."

By this Radical Change we shall lose some of our customers no doubt, but we will gain ten where we lose one, the advantages being so great to all who can avail themselves of them. So we say

CASH THROUGHOUT.

Bring Money for Clothing, and we will supply it at prices possible under no other plan.

2d POINT. "ONE PRICE."

The fairness of this feature of our plan all will praise. It is simply treating all alike—exacting nothing from indisposition to bargain or ignorance, and, at the same time, conceding all that shrewdness on the shrewdest customer's part could possibly extort, because the "One Price" which we mark on our goods, shall invariably be

NOT the "First" Price, but the LAST and LOWEST PRICE.
NOT the "TOP" Price, but the VERY BOTTOM PRICE.

In other words, Salesmen or "Headmen," have never been allowed, under ordinary circumstances, to fall below a certain figure! It is at that, or at a lower figure that we now determine to mark our goods, calculating the cost to the exact penny, and fixing the price at the low minimum profit on which business on a large scale can be conducted.

We know that the larger business we aim for and anticipate, will require a large increase in the number of customers, and we shall therefore see to it that the "One Price" is based on the Smallest Profit, calculated to the exact and lowest penny, which will not be difficult to do with universal Cash Payment for the rule. The price will be marked in plain figures and no alteration allowed.

NOTE.—Whenever the exigencies of the season, the state of trade, or the money market may demand, the right is reserved to go through our stock before or after business hours and mark down any lot or lots of goods, changing the figures on all the labels, so that the new rates are the same to all, and all buy alike at the mark down prices.

WANAMAKER & BROWN WILL NEVER HOLD THEIR GOODS.

3d POINT. "Full Guarantee."

A printed Guarantee, bearing the signature of our firm, will accompany each garment as a Warrantee. This binds us in every sense, and will be honored as quickly as a good draft of the Government of the United States. This is a sample of the Full Guarantee, and tells its own story:

GUARANTEE.

We hereby guarantee
1st. That the prices of our goods shall be as low as the same quality of material and manufacture are sold anywhere in the United States.
2d. That the prices are precisely the same to everybody for same quality, on same day of purchase.
3d. That the quality of goods is as represented on printed labels.
4th. That the full amount of cash paid will be refunded, if customers find the articles unsatisfactory, and return them unworn and uninjured within 10 days of date of purchase.

[Signed,] WANAMAKER & BROWN,
OAK HALL,
Sixth and Market Streets, Phila.

DATE,.....

4th POINT. "Cash Returned."

This is simply a concession on our part to our customers, to secure them full confidence in dealing for goods they know very little about, and we thus prevent any occasion for dissatisfaction from any and every cause whatsoever. If the garment is not exactly what you thought, if your taste changes, if the "home folks" prefer another color or another shape, if you find you can buy the same material and style elsewhere for less money, if you conclude you don't need it after you get home, if the season changes suddenly and you wish you had not bought it, bring it back unworn and uninjured, and the full amount of money you paid will be returned on the spot. What more can we do for our customers than this, when we make our clothing so that they can draw the money value with it equally as well as with a check on the bank?

THE GREAT INDIAN DIURETIC.
INFINITELY SUPERIOR TO BUCHU.

Nine tenths of the human family suffer, directly or indirectly, at one time or other, from diseases or irregularities of the generative system, while the victims of indiscretion, and of quack treatment, are comparatively numerous.

The idea that patients cannot treat themselves successfully in these cases, has long ago been exploded. A good and reliable medicine, prepared by an experienced physician, from the original Indian Recipe, that is guaranteed to effect a can be as safely relied upon as the prescription of the most skillful practitioner. Such a medicine is the celebrated

CHEROKEE REMEDY.

Full directions accompany each bottle, and if they are carefully followed, a quick and permanent cure is guarranteed. Price $2.00 per bottle.

THE CHEROKEE INJECTION, should always be used in conjunction with the Remedy for both incipient and obstinate cases of Gonorrhœa. Price $2.00 per bottle.

CHEROKEE CURE

for seminal weakness (spermatorrhœa), is a simple vegetable medicine that was used for many years in the practice of the physician who first gave the remedy to the public. It has effected cures that would scarcely be credited except on ocular evidence of the fact. Full directions, with pamphlet containing all particulars of symptoms, treatment, &c., accompany each bottle. Price $2.00 per bottle. Sold everywhere.

CHEROKEE PILLS.

These Pill are prepared expressly for the cure of those irregularities to which ladies are subject, and will be found safe, reliable and effectual, for the cure of Suppression, Green Sickness, Pain in the Back, Hysteria, Sick Headache, &c., &c. Price $1.00 per box.

Heimstreet's Hair Restorative,

OR INIMITABLE HAIR COLORING.

NOT A DYE.—Heimstreet's "Hair Coloring is not a Dye, and its operation is not by any chemical effect, but by a natural restoration of the glands, thus giving the hair the color it originally had.

NATURALNESS.—When the hair is dyed, its color is leaden hued and unnatural, but when restored by HEIMSTREET'S HAIR COLORING, its appearance is so perfectly natural that no one can detect the use of any Restorative.

STAINLESS.—While the Restorative acts promptly on the hair, it leaves no stain or mark whatever on the skin. It is composed of ingredients that form a perfect dressing as well as a coloring, so that no oils, &c., are necessary.

THIS MOST EFFECTIVE of all the Hair Restorers is for sale by all druggists at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Numerous certificates from those who have used it are in the possession of the proprietors.

PARK'S BALSAM

OR WILD CHERRY AND TAR.

BALSAM.—Nothing is more soothing to the irritated membranes than the pure BALSAMS of which this medicine is composed.

WILD CHERRY.—The true bark of Wild Cherry is an unfailing specific for all throat and pectorial diseases.

TAR.—The wonderful healing properties of Tar when united with the other ingredients, render PARK'S BALSAM the most efficient Cough Medicine ever offered to the public.

CONSUMPTION.—The many cases of Consumption that have been cured justify us in the assertion that it is the very best medicine for that disease ever discovered.

CERTIFICATES OF CURES.

STEPHEN FISK, of New York, says his daughter had consumption, and terbucles had formed in her lungs. He was induced to try Park's Balsam, which effected a speedy cure.

T. EDWARD FLEET, of Brooklyn says, I think it is the best medicine for affections of the lungs I ever used.

G. S. FANCHER, of New York says, I feel fully persuaded that Park's Balsam has saved my life.

We have in our possession hundreds of certificates from others, and all of the same cheering import. Price 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by druggists and dealers everywhere.

EGYPTIAN
Rat and Vermin Destroyer

FOR EXTERMINATING RATS, MICE, WATER BUGS, ROUCHES, RED ANTS, &c.

STRENGTH.—When a Rat tastes the Egyptian Destroyer, his death warrant is signed, sure. It cannot fail to kill. It also creates great thirst, and the rat will search for water out of doors, and not die in his hole, to cause a stench that cannot be got out.

ATTRACTIVENESS.—Rats are the shrewdest of vermin. It is hard to get them to eat poison. An ingredient in the Egyption Destroyer is a perfect bait, and they are attracted rather than freightened be it. "Rats (not children) cry for it.

KEEPING SOFT.—People know how the ordinary Rat Pastes dry up and become useless, causing annoyance and loss. The Egyptian Destroyer is fully warranted to keep soft, fresh and effective in any climate for years.

SURE DEATH.—The Egyptian Destroyer kills every time. Hundreds of unsolicited testimonials are now in the hands of the proprietors, substantiating its great merits as the best preparation for destroying Vermin in the world. Be sure and ask for the "Egyptian," and take no other.

Put up in large glass bottles. Price, 25 cts. Sold by Druggists everywhere.

MEDICAL.

Wright's Rejuvenating Elixer.

For the restoration of Nature's forces. It gives new life and vigor to the aged, and causes the blood of youth to course through the veins. It effectually cures Impotency, Palpitation of the Heart, Loss of Muscular Power, Low Spirits, Disorganization of the Generative Organs, and all the train of ills that follow in the path of the transgressor of Nature's laws. Price $2 per bottle.

It will be readily understood that in the brief space afforded by the advertising columns of a public print, it is impossible to give all particulars of the diseases that may be cured by the CHEROKEE MEDICINES. That they are destined to become immensely popular is plainly obvious in consequence of their

GREAT INTRINSIC MERIT.

The pamphlet and circulars that accompany the medicines give all the information which cannot be given here, and the remedies may be had of any respectable druggist.

ELAINE

AS AN ILLUMINATOR.

WHY IT IS THE SAFEST.

ELAINE will not explode while burning in a lamp, nor in any other way, as it does not contain any of the explosive compounds so frequently met with in the ordinary oil for illuminating. A lamp, filled with ELAINE, if upset or accidently broken, will not explode or burn. There is no position in which you can put a lamp filled with ELAINE, for common use, in which it will explode. As no other illuminator has such advantages of safety, ELAINE IS CERTAINLY THE SAFEST FAMILY ILLUMINATING OIL KNOWN.

Bellefonte and County.

——Mr. R. H. Duncan has disposed of his valuable Spring Mills property for the sum of $30,000.

——Rev. Prof. B. B. Else occupied the pulpit of the M. E. Church and preached a most excellent sermon.

——All the races that were advertised for last week, were consolidated and held yesterday, beginning at 10 o'clock, A. M.

——At the Fair, the committee on mules and jacks consisted of Jack Spangler, Jack Love and Jack Thompson.

——Rev. R. Crittenden went to Mill Hall yesterday to conduct a Sunday School convention which will close this evening.

——Four organ grinders encamped in Yocum's woods below town over Sunday and attacked the village early Monday morning.

——The Republican Congressional, Judicial, and Senatorial conferences will meet at the Bush House this afternoon at two o'clock.

——Hon. L. A. Mackey, Mr. J. C. Whalley of the Clinton Democrat and George Batchellor, all of Lock Haven, were visitors at the Fair on Thursday.

——We saw Fred Kurtz sitting on a churn at the Fair nursing a tiny little baby, and listening to the band, and really looking like an honest man and a christian father.

——Billy Rouse's theatrical entertainments last week were not well attended and the troupe lost money. The performances were middling good but the bad weather spoiled everything.

——No one was more disappointed last week than Major Hicks who had charge of the amusement department. Had the weather been pleasant there would have been plenty of sport.

——Foote, the Berichter man, was exhibiting himself at the Fair last week. He was awarded a premium by the committee of which the two candidates for District Attorney were members.

——Signor Blitz, the prestidigitator and ventriloguist, will visit Bellefonte on the 22nd inst. and give an entertainment in Reynold's hall. This is said to be the farewell tour of this wonderful man.

JOHN LONG, AUCTIONEER, will cry all sales entrusted to his care with promptness. Has been in the business for the last eight years. Terms as low as the lowest. Address, John Long, Howard, Centre Co., Pa.

——We have a first class Florence Sewing Machine at this office which we will trade for Hay. To any farmer who wants a Sewing Machine this affords an opportunity to obtain one on easy terms. Call and see it.

——There were three brass bands at the Fair on Friday: the Boalsburg, the Millheim and the Mountain Echo Band of Bellefonte. They all played very well and enlivened things generally. We have not yet learned who took the silver horn.

ORGANS AND MELODEONS.—We invite attention to the card of Geo. A. Prince & Co., of Buffalo, N. Y., manufacturers of Organs and Melodeons. This is the oldest house in the country in its line, and their instruments rank among the very best.

——The following gentlemen have been appointed Republican conferrees for Centre County: Congressional, James H. Rankin, Robert Valentine, Andrew Gregg; Judicial, S. D. Gray, E. M. Blanchard, S. H. Yocum; Senatorial, J. P. Coburn, L. A. Miller, J. H. Crissman.

RETURN OF THE FAVORITS.—Woman against Woman is the title of a new drama to be produced at Reynold's Opera House on this (Wednesday) evening. It is a society sensation written by Mr. Henry expressly for Miss Jennie Carroll. It will be remembered that Miss Carroll and her troupe were here last winter and delighted everybody. From a glance at the caste on the playbills we judge that Woman against Woman is a play of extraordinary inter-

THE BALLOON VOYAGE.—By far the most interesting feature of the Fair last week, was the balloon ascension of Mr. Wm. H. Renner on Friday afternoon. Mr. Renner arrived in town on the Wednesday preceding and superintended all arrangements for his voyage in person. Through the kindness of Mr. Robert McKnight, the accommodating superintendent of the gas works, and a number of the officers of the Agricultural Society, every facility was afforded Mr. Renner for making ample and complete preparations. A gas pipe was tapped at the corner of High and Thomas streets about eight o'clock on Friday morning, and the work of inflating the balloon began. This occupied about seven and one half hours, for it was not until half past three in the afternoon that Mr. Renner decided that his balloon contained a sufficient quantity of gas. Had he waited until the bag had been filled it would have taken several hours longer, but as the gas was of an excellent quality, he concluded to attempt the voyage with about 15,000 feet. While the work of inflation was going on, hundreds of people gathered round to witness the process, examine the balloon and admire the novelty generally. During the day there was a continual throng of comers. The road leading to the Fair ground led past this point of interest and the number of horses that were scared was astonishing, although we believe there were no run-a-ways or accidents worth mentioning. The balloon is a large one, strong and well made in every part, and was used last week by a son of Prof. John Wise, who made a successful ascension. It was made by Prof. Wise himself, after his own idea, and is said to be one of the strongest and "luckiest" air-ships in the country.

Mr. W. H. Renner, the aeronaut, is known to many of our citizens as the young man who compiled Greevy & Renner's Directory of Centre and Clinton counties, several months since. He lives in Altoona, is but twenty-four years of age, being next to the youngest aeronaut in the country. We understand that this was his second voyage, and that he expects to make many more if his life be spared. He is a pleasant, genial young man, thoroughly in love with the science of aeronautics, and although brave and daring, he has a fine nerve and a commendable degree of caution. He was assisted in the thousand and one little needful details in readiness by Mr. F. M. Bell of Altoona, who has made several voyages himself.

At 3.30 P. M. the basket had been attached, the ropes and netting carefully secured, the ballast placed in position, and all the necessaries and conveniences packed away in the basket. Mr. Renner then entered the same and gave direction to the attendants to loosen the ropes and tow him and balloon to the Fair ground. The balloon arose as soon as relieved of its encumbrances, and a dozen men had no trouble in guiding its course up over the hill and down to the Fair grounds. The journey was made in the presence of three or four hundred men, women and children who surrounded the attendants and everybody that could get a chance took hold of a rope. If there had been rope sufficient for that crowd, all the gas in Pennsylvania would not have wrested that balloon from them. No admission fee to the grounds was charged to anybody that had hold of the ropes. There were at least three thousand people on the grounds waiting for the balloon, besides the horses, cattle and the brass bands. As soon as the aeronaut came inside the enclosure the crowd made a rush toward it. All but a thousand or so of men who had to hold their hoses and a few old people who were a little superstitious. But those who were free from the care of horse and babies joined in the noisy, bustling excitement of the prosession and followed to the centre of the race grounds. The aerial ship was also received with mixed admiration and astonishment by the horses present. While it came into view a thousand horse heads were turned upon it, twice as many horse-ears pointed that way and a thousand horse tails rose to an angle of forty five degrees and then commenced business as vigorously as if all the flies in the universe had attacked them. Even the brass bands caught the impulse of the occasion and belched forth their loudest strains. The balloon rests as it were, for a moment or two while the car is festomed with national flags; then at the word, the ropes are detached, and the structure lifts itself above the heads of the multitude. Slowly, steadily, gracefully it mounts upward, Prof. Renner rests his eyes intently on the ropes, netting, great-bag overhead as if to find something wrong. In the meantime all are silently, anxiously watching his movements, and a dozen of the wickedest young men of the town took advantage of the intense excitement and stole behind a two-horse wagon and, unnoticed, punished a bottle of spiritus fermentis, to quiet their nerves. A great calm comes over the throng; but, when Renner bends over the edge of the car and waves his hat at the upturned faces, such a shout goes up as makes the earth tremble and knocks the bands out of tune. But the air ship leads on upward, still upward until every body feels as if he were about to fall off a church steeple. After rising to the distance of, perhaps, a quarter of a mile, the balloon takes an easterly direction and, in a few minutes is directly over Bellefonte, here it seems to rest for a short time and the Professor takes advantage in this lull of business to cast overboard several bags of sand, which, owing to certain laws of nature which cannot be fathomed falls to the earth in Bishop Street. Then he sailed off slowly and gracefully toward the East. The sun had almost reached the western hills; a few light, filmy clouds, here and there, dotted the firmament; there was hardly an indication of a breeze where he started, but the clouds that floated in a friendly manner up to their strange visitor, revealed the direction of the upper current. After a while the balloon was lost to view, having entered a cloud to give the spectators a chance to rest their necks. When it emerged in full view again, the Professor was seen with what appeared to be a telescope in his hand, intently viewing the Heavens above. Still it floated away to the eastward, growing beautifully less until lost to view. One man watched it with a telescope for an hour and seventeen minutes after it left the earth and then his neck gave out, and he went home for repairs. Before five o'clock a dispatch was received that the balloon was sailing along the Bald Eagle mountains, between Mill Hall and Lock Haven. Later, reliable information came that he had suffered the mortification of having his pockets picked in the vicinity of Castanea. At five o'clock, the news was wired that he was directly over Jersey Shore, and that the feathered creation along the West Branch Valley were on the ragged edges of an impending panic from what they supposed was a gigantic chicken-hawk. Williamsport now gets word of the approaching visitor and the Gazette & Bulletin steps in and tells the rest of the story:

At 5:15 the Professor was directly over the city, but far away in the blue vault of heaven, above the scattering clouds that moved along as though companions of the isolated traveler. Now he is hid from view as he runs a race with a black, swift flying cloud; again he appears in sight, and the sun shining upon the side of the monstrous air ship, the shout from the earth goes up, "There, there goes the balloon," but the Professor cannot hear it. He is in illimitable space, the creaking of the ropes being the only sound to disturb the silence of the sky, unless it be the occasional whistle of a locomotive that faintly falls upon his ear. So far above the city is he that the basket, decorated with flags, is not visible—nothing but the great sack that holds the daring aeronaut between heaven and earth, and so diminutive does that appear that the incredulous believe it a small balloon, and that the story of a human being conveyed through the air is simply a joke intended to take the place of the Tom Collins excitement.

At twenty minutes of six o'clock he is seen evidently descending rapidly, and is at last lost sight of in the black bank that rests in the northeast, and people turning from the long gaze begin to discuss the probable landing point.

The Professor arrived in the city last night, at 10:30 o'clock, stopping at the City Hotel, having been conveyed here, with his balloon, by two gentlemen from the county. Calling upon him we found him sociable, and disposed to impart information of his journey, although much fatigued.

He left Bellefonte at ten minutes past four, taking but little ballast with him, on account of the poor quality of gas, the amount used in inflation being only about 15,000 feet. The balloon is a large one, capable of carrying three persons, and was therefore but partially inflated. For a time he hung directly over the village, giving the assembled thousands an opportunity to fully witness the ascension. Then he sailed gracefully off, and passing above the clouds, kept above them during the entire voyage. The air was very cold, and the Professor states that he suffered considerably, his teeth constantly chattering. At 5:30 finding that night was rapidly approaching, and fearing that perhaps he might lodge in the wilderness of the Allegheny range, he commenced making his descent. At 5:20 he came close to the earth, near Loyalsockville, better known as Slabtown, nine miles from Williamsport. Throwing out his grapling hooks they fastened upon a fence. As there were houses near by, he shouted for assistance, but no one came. The balloon struggled to escape, and the fence giving away, on he went plunging into the woods, where he lodged between two trees, expecting every moment to see the balloon torn in shreds, as he surged back and forth between the limbs. For one hour he remained in this position, when assistance arrived, and in a short time after he was safe and sound on terra firma. There was but one rent in the air ship, and that was near the valve, and the Professor considers himself fortunate in escaping with so light damage, when the ascent was so rough.

Mr. Renner returned to this place on Saturday afternoon on his way home to Altoona and received the congratulations of a crowd of people who had congregated at the depot to see him. The highest point reached, according to his barometer, was 9,700 feet. While attempting to make a landing, he came near enough to the ground, at one time, to seize upon a fence, when he hallowed for help, but as soon as the people, who had followed the balloon, heard his voice, they ran away in fear. When help did come, they were compelled to fell five large trees before they could get the balloon free. The ascension was a complete success. There was no tiresome delay, no casualty, nothing of which Mr. Renner may not be proud.

EUREKA.—I have found at last the best 5 ct. cigars to be had in the State. Inquire for the "Opera" brand and try them if only one. J. WELCH.

THE COUNTY FAIR.—On Monday of last week there was every indication that the annual exhibition of the Centre County Agricultural Society would be the largest and most successful of any held in the county.

President Orvis, Secretary Keller and the Executive Committee were untiring in their efforts to make everything complete. On Tuesday it rained all day and there were but a few people on the grounds beside the officers of the association. On Tuesday night and Wednesday it rained almost continuously so that two days of the Fair were absolutely lost. On Wednesday morning the number of entries were 1065, which was considerably in access of any previous year, and it is fair to suppose that if Tuesday had been a clear day, the number of entries would probably have reached half as many more. On Wednesday night and Thursday the rain continued to descend without any abatement, except an hour or two about noon. Despite the storm and the terrible condition of the roads, a goodly number of visitors were present and something over $200.00 was taken in at the gate. Friday dawned more auspiciously and the management who had almost despaired of getting through without losing money, became more hopeful. The people poured in from the country all forenoon and the morning trains were crowded with visitors. About noon the sun made his appearance for the first time in four days and the afternoon was delightful overhead, but the walking was terrible.

When we reached the grounds on Friday afternoon a large portion of the stock had been taken away, but the different committees report that the entries were numerous, being fine specimens of a variety of breeds. The section allotted to agricultural implements was well covered with all kinds of reapers, mowers, separators, drills, and the like. The race course was so soft that no trials of speed were practicable and no driving of any kind was allowed on the track. All races were postponed until yesterday. The hillside, which is over half of the entire enclosure, was crowded with people, horses, wagons and buggies. An excellent wide road had lately been constructed, leading from the course to the display houses but the rains had made it almost impassible.

The home department presented a very handsome appearance and was admired by all. The floral display was beautiful both in variety of flowers and their tasty arrangement. Then there was any amount of pretty and useful things that nothing but an examination of the award list will give a comprehensive idea. We must not forget to mention some queer and beautiful cloths and needle work which came from Russia, and were placed on exhibition by Mrs. Goy. Curtin. The grain and fruit building was replete with all the varieties grown in this climate. Every department, in fact, was well filled. Our farmers displayed plenty of pride in bringing forward the best of the summer's harvest; the ladies did their duty in the display of their handiwork, the horsemen were here with their trotting stock, every appointment was complete and if the weather had proved favorable, the society would, no doubt, have reaped a rich reward for their energetic labors.

——Hon. H. T. Beardsley of Lock Haven spent a short time on the Fair grounds on Thursday. Mr. Beardsley is one of the oldest practitioners at the Clinton County bar and is recognized as one of the best lawyers in this part of the state. He is a hard working, energetic, public spirited gentleman and has done quite as much for the improvement and growth of Lock Haven as any other man in that county. He has many warm and admiring friends in Bellefonte who are always glad to see his face and grasp his honest hand.

——According to the Williamsport Register some chap hereabouts, of a humorous disposition has been playing a stupendous joke upon one of our lawyers by luring him up to the mill dam and inducing him to show his skill as a sportsman, by shooting at some decoy ducks, which he, (the joker) had placed there a short time previous. The name of the victim given, is Jake Fitch, and now the question arises, Who's Jake Fitch?

——We had often heard of John De Long of Gregg township, this county, but we never had the pleasure of meeting him until last Friday on the Fair ground. There is nothing peculiar in Mr. De Long's appearance. He is a little under the average height, weighs about 175 pounds, has broad shoulders, clear gray eyes that never have needed spectacles, has not a dozen gray hairs in his head or full beard, has an excellent set of natural teeth, and is as quick and active, strong and enduring as the best that might be selected from fifty men at the age of thirty. He walked from town to the Fair ground on Friday and made a tour on foot of the whole business, examining the stock, agricultural implements, everything on the grounds. And when the balloon was being towed into position on the race course and a call was made for a few more men, Mr. DeLong was promptly on hand and rendered valuable assistance. The only thing remarkable about Mr. John De Long is the fact that, on the 20th day of last August, he was eighty two years of age. In conversation with him, we learned that he was born in New Jersey but that he has lived in this county for the last thirty six years. He was never sick a day in his life, he says, and his joints are just as free and his muscles as firm as fifty years ago. He can walk as far, do as much work and recollects events of the past as well now as when he was thirty. He lives on his own farm in Gregg township and does the bulk of the work thereon himself, besides finding time to act in the capacity of agent for a reaper firm and a stove manufactory. He is undoubtedly the best preserved man of his age in the state.

——Our correspondent from the east end of Pennsvalley writes us, that on last Friday morning the citizens of that neighborhood were shocked to learn that old Mr. Hinkson had met with an accident which resulted in his death. He was in the habit of getting too full of whiskey, and many a time he would get home on his little one horse wagon, himself not knowing how, for he trusted all to his sure footed old horse that would always bring him up to the stable door safe and sound. But it seems that on Thursday afternoon the old man had been to Millheim and had been taking in an unusually large amount of "tanglefoot," and when he passed the toll gate at Aaronsburg he remarked to the gate keeper that he did not have the right horse and was too drunk. Which was all too true, for it leaving the road the horse turned a little too short, the left front wheel dropped down over the bank throwing the old man out, and in falling his head struck some stones breaking his skull. The horse was found in the morning standing in the stable with the harness on. It seems the stable door had been left open and when the horse came home he walked right in tearing loose from the wagon and leaving it on the outside. The old man lay there all night and was found next morning stiff and cold.

——One of the most sudden deaths we have ever heard of, is thus described by the Altoona Tribune:

From one of the Blair county conferees to the Congressional Conference, who has been spending the past week in Bedford, Pa., we learn that an aged gentleman named Johnston dropped dead while crossing the threshold of the Bedford cemetery on Thursday afternoon. Deceased was aged about seventy years and had resided in Bedford some forty years agone, since which time he has made his home in one of the western States. Recently he returned to Bedford on a visit and on the afternoon named started to walk to the cemetery. As he was crossing the stile that communicates with the City of the Dead at its main entrance he was seen to fall heavily to the ground, and although a gentleman who was near by at the time and witnessed the occurrence went to the old gentleman's assistance without delay, he was horrified to learn that the man was dead, having died instantly as is supposed. Deceased had complained somewhat in the morning of experiencing a sort of numbness in the arms and legs, yet beyond this was apparently in the enjoyment of his usual health. He was genteelly dressed, had some two thousand dollars in money and drafts on his person, and was an uncle of Col. William K. Piper, of Hollidaysburg, and is said to have a brother-in-law in Johnstown who is engaged in the practice of medicine. The body of deceased was properly cared for, an inquest held on the same, yet what disposition was made of it our informant failed to learn prior to leaving for Altoona.

——One of the curiosities at the Fair on Friday afternoon was Wm. Foster, son of John S. Foster, the captain of the Milesburg base ball club. Young Foster has but one arm and yet his score was better than any other player in either club. His batting with one hand was excellent and as pitcher he was remarkable for swiftness and accuracy, while he always caught the hottest balls with his one hand.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES.

Since the several conferences of the Democracy met here and made district nominations, there has been a little cloud on the political horizon, which now threatens to culminate in a disastrous storm which may yet cause the overthrow of that now much ring-ridden party. The gentlemen who warm the Court House steps from spring to fall, look as forlorn as a buck wheat patch after a hail storm. Among the most conspicuous, is S. T. Shugert, Esq., one of the candidates for assembly. We suppose none of the candidates fear the just indignation of the people against this abominable ring rule more than he does. So he ought; for he has been a professional office seeker since 1845, through a period of twenty nine years. We are not advised that he has ever made a cent during all that time in any other capacity. He is not a man of original ideas. He has never been known to have made any effort in behalf of the farming or labor interest, yet he is desirous that they should vote for him.

He held office in Washington from 1845 to 1861 when the rebellion was inaugurated by his fellow associates. During his sojourn it that city, his associates were of that class who style themselves the F. F. Vs. Who recognized slavery as a divine institution and called northern mechanics, farmers and laborers, the mudsills of society. Since his return he has been nearly a constant occupant of the Court House in the capacity of a copyist, making in all twenty nine years in which he has gathered his fodder from the public crib. It seems to us that this long continued lease of office ought to satisfy any reasonable man, but it only seems to increase his hunger, and he cries for more. Would it not be well for the people to teach this fawning friend of the monopolies that rotation in office is one of the established planks in the platform of all political parties.

S. S. Wolf is named as Mr. Shugert's colleague, and his party organs are pleased to dub him Lieutenant Wolf. This in reality is a disqualification in the eyes of his party leaders, or would be if he had really been a faithful soldier; but it is only a subturfuge which they are willing to resort to to catch soldiers, votes.

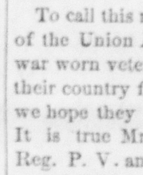
To call this man Wolf a Lieutenant of the Union Army is a stigma on the war worn veterans who served God and their country faithfully and well, which we hope they will resent at the polls. It is true Mr. Wolf joined the 148th Reg. P. V. and was elected a Lieutenant of Company A. He stayed with his company until the regiment was ordered to the front, when he resigned. He never saw a battle. He slipped into the Treasurer's office of Centre County upon the pretense of having been a soldier, just for the reason that the soldiers of the county were charitable enough not to expose him; but they should see that he does not become a member of the Legislature on the same pretext.

——We are sorry to chronicle the death of Jacob Struble, Esq., near Zion, which occurred last Sunday. Mr. Struble had filled out the full time allotted to man being in his eightieth year. He was at one time a member of the legislature from this county and has occupied many other positions of trust and honor. He leaves a wide circle of friends and relatives to mourn his loss.

MARRIED

BEAMER—GARDNER.—In Taylor township, Thursday, Oct. 1st, by Benjamin Vaughen, J. P., George W. Beamer and Miss Tamer Gardner, both of Snyder twp., Blair county, Pa.

Centaur Liniment



There is no pain which the Centaur Liniment will not relieve, no swelling they will not subdue, and no lameness which they will not cure. This is strong language, but it is true. They have produced more cures of rheumatism, neuralgia, lockjaw, palsy, sprains, swellings, caked-breasts scalds, burns, salt-rheum, earache, &c., &c., upon the human frame, and of strains spavin, galls, &c., upon animals in one year than have all other pretended remedies since the world began. They are counter-irritant, all-healing pain reliever. Cripples throw away their crutches, the lame walk, poisonous bites are endered harmless, and the wounded are healed without a scar. The recipe is published around each bottle. They sell as no articles ever before sold, and they sell because they do just what they pretends to do. Those who now suffer from rheumatism, pain or swelling, deserve to suffer if they will not use Centaur Liniment. More than 1000 certificates of remarkable cures, including frozen limbs, chronic rheumatism, gout, running tumors, &c., have been received. We will send a circular containing certificates, the recipe, &c., gratis, to any one requesting it. One bottle of the yellow wrapper Centaur Liniment is worth one hundred dollars for spavined or sweenied horses and mules, or for screw-worm in sheep. Stock-owners—these liniments are worth your attention. No family should be without them. "White wrapper for family use;" Yellow wrapper for animals. Sold by all Druggists. 50 cents per bottle; large bottles $1 00. J. B. ROSE & Co., 53 Broadway, New York.

CASTORIA is more than a substitute for Castor Oil. It is the only safe article in existence which is certain to assimilate the food, regulate the bowels, cure wind-colic and produce natural sleep. It contains neither minerals, morphine or alcohol, and is pleasant to take. Children need not cry and mothers may rest.
